TERRIFIC STORM SWEEPS COUNTRY

Wind, Rain and Snow Cause Havoc — Traffic Tied up — Wires Down and Buildings Wrecked

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Boston and New England were basking at noon today in warm zephyrs and much sunshine, while the middle states shivered in a blizzard. The weather bureau, however, announced that more storm conditions might be expected here by tonight. On shore gales were signalled from all stations on the coast from Block Island to Eastport and only full-powered vessels ventured outside.

WESTERN TRAINS LATE
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Nearly all trains from the west were from one to seven hours late in reaching New York today. The Twentieth Century limited due at New York at 10 a. m. was posted to arrive between 3.40 and 4 p. m. Other New York Central trains were not as seriously delayed.

The Erie train from Buffalo and Cleveland due at 5.15 pulled in at 9.05. The slow time generally was credited to interrupted wire service due to the storm.

Telegraph and telephone companies reported today that the centre of wire demoralization was in and about Cleveland.

Communication with that city was practically cut off this morning and there were no wires working west of Buffalo. Messages for Chicago were sent via Atlanta, Memphis and St. Louis.

BEILISS ACQUITTED

Was Charged With the Murder of Andrew Yushinsky, a Christian Boy, in March 1911

KIEV, Russia, Nov. 10.—Mendel Beiliss was acquitted by the jury today on the charge of murdering the boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March 1911.

Troops Guard Courthouse
The trial of Mendel Beiliss, a Russian of the Hebrew faith, for murder of the alleged purpose of "blood ritual" of Andrew Yushinsky, a Christian lad, began in October. The mutilated body of the boy was found on March 28, 1911, in a cave near Kiev, on a woman, Vera Tcheberiak, alleged to be the harbinger of a band of criminals.

Extensive precautions were taken by the authorities to prevent threatened outrages by members of a society of anti-semitic Russians known as the Black Hundred, the vicinity of the court being surrounded by hundreds of troops during the latter days of the trial.

FIRE PREVENTION CLEAN-UP WEEK

Observance in Schools Today—Addresses by Firemen—Increase in Refuse Removed

In some of the districts of this city today it was very noticeable that this week has been set aside by the mayor as fire prevention week, for the sidewalks were literally covered with receptacles containing refuse of all descriptions accumulated in attics, cellars and alleyways for some time. The employees of the health department were on the job bright and early and load after load was removed to places set aside for the reception of such stuff.

A few days ago the mayor issued a proclamation setting aside the week of Nov. 10 as fire prevention week, and the citizens of this city have endorsed the proposition and many started to do a general clean-up last week. However, those who have not set right down to business will undoubtedly do so before the present week has expired.

The fire prevention movement is being observed throughout the city, as well as in the public and parochial schools, where the children were to be given lectures on this important subject by members of the fire department. The board of trade, whose members are really the instigators of this movement, has arranged for a meeting tomorrow evening, which will be addressed by an expert on this topic. The final arrangements are now complete and the meeting will be held at the board of trade rooms at 8 p. m.

The address of the evening will be delivered by Franklin H. Wentworth, who is secretary of the National Fire Protection association. He is a very interesting speaker and deals with the

SUPERIOR COURT SESSION

Case of Dalton vs. Vlahos Opened This Morning — Damages of $15,000 Claimed

The trial of the cases of Thomas and Mary Dalton vs. John Vlahos was opened at superior court this morning. This case is one in which one of the plaintiffs, Mary Dalton, seeks to recover for damages alleged to have been sustained from falling through a veranda on the property of the defendant. Mrs. Dalton sues for $10,000 for personal injuries, while her husband, Thos. Dalton, seeks to recover for expenses incurred on account of the injury to the amount of $5000.

Mrs. Mary Dalton was the first witness called to the stand and she stated that on July 25, 1910, she hired a tenement on Suffolk street from the defendant. There was a veranda located on the second story of the building which was to be used by the Daltons and another tenant. The witness said that while hanging out clothes on July 25, 1910, she fell through the floor of the veranda and seriously injured her leg and back, making it necessary for her to remain in bed for a long time.

Mrs. Annie Welsh, who at the time of the alleged accident lived at 155 Suffolk street, testified that she saw Mrs. Dalton fall through the veranda and also helped care for her after the accident. She said that Mrs. Dalton was unconscious for some time after the fall.

Mr. Thomas Dalton, husband of Mary Dalton and one of the plaintiffs, explained to the jury the location of the veranda and clothesline. On returning from work about 6 o'clock on the evening of the accident he found his wife lying on the couch in a very weak condition. She was disabled for nearly a year and was cared for by her daughter.

When questioned by the defendant's attorney, he stated that he was employed by the railroad and the house was cared for by his wife. A few days after Mr. Vlahos bought the property they talked together relative to several improvements that were to be made.

Mrs. Mary Dalton, daughter of the plaintiff, was called and stated that on arriving home a few hours after the accident she found her mother with a badly bruised leg and also noticed the hole in the piazza.

John F. Harrigan, a carpenter who repaired the platform on the property, stated that he found the timbers partly decayed and some of the boards misplaced.

"BILL" HAYWOOD

Supreme Court Sets Aside Conviction of I.W.W. Leader

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 10.—The state supreme court here today set aside the conviction of William Haywood, who with two others connected with the Industrial Workers of the World was convicted on a charge of being disorderly persons in connection with the recent strike of the Paterson silk workers.

The others involved are Carlo Tresca and Adolph Lessig. The men were sentenced to six months in jail.

The opinion of the supreme court in a decision read by Justice Bergen, holds that the mere fact that a person walking along the public streets in a peaceable and quiet manner is followed by a crowd of people is not sufficient to justify his conviction of being a disorderly person upon the ground that he obstructed and interfered with other persons lawfully upon the streets.

LIFT EMBARGO ON ARMS

Pres. Wilson Giving Point Serious Consideration—Asks Senators' Advice—Discusses Situation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Wilson, it was learned later today, is giving serious consideration to raising the embargo on arms. In his talks with senators he has asked their advice particularly on that point and has been advised by most of them to lift the embargo.

PRES. DISCUSSES SITUATION
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Wilson discussed the Mexican situation today and cleared the atmosphere of many reports as to the intentions of the United States. He made it clear that he had no intention at present of addressing congress because the situation was not in shape for him to have anything to say and that while certain representations had been made to the Huerta government no reply had been received. He declared that no time limit had been set for a reply from Huerta.

The president told inquirers he was not ready to discuss recognition of the constitutionalists and that his opposition to raising the embargo on arms had not been changed.

The text of the statement given to the diplomatic corps at midnight on Saturday by President Huerta had not been cabled here today by Charge O'Shaughnessy. The charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy here received a copy. It is suggested here that perhaps Mr. O'Shaughnessy did not attend the meeting of the diplomatic corps as he is not accredited to the Huerta government.

Informal comment upon Huerta's statement, however, emphasized that while the elections of the president and vice president were to be declared null and void, Huerta intended to declare the election of congress valid. By the Washington government that is regarded as an inconsistency of which foreign nations must take cognizance and the impression prevails that the repudiation of all acts of the new congress would be forthcoming by the United States.

The president made it plain the foreign governments had been fully advised of the last week of the steps taken by the United States, but that the future policy of this government would depend upon further developments.

KING MAY LOSE CROWN

Bulgarians Bitter Against Ferdinand for Heavy Losses in the Balkan War

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Despatches from Vienna indicate that the disastrous second war into which Bulgaria entered after the quarrel with her erstwhile allies in the Balkan league is likely to cost King Ferdinand his throne.

King Ferdinand, who is now at Vienna, is determined not to cede to Bulgaria unless he has the support of Austria. He has been most unpopular in Bulgaria since the termination of the war and it is said that he has received many letters threatening him with death while placards with the words "To Let" have been posted on the walls of the national palace at night. The monarch frequently absented himself from Sofia, spending days at a time at Ebenbach.

He has had several conferences with Count von Berchtold, the Austrian premier, and has had an audience with Emperor Francis Joseph. It is said that if his mission fails he will abdicate in favor of his son, Prince Boris, who, having been brought up in the orthodox faith, is more popular than his father.

King Ferdinand, who was elected emperor of Bulgaria in July, 1877, and recognized by Turkey, which at that time had suzerainty over Bulgaria, declared himself czar of the Bulgars in 1893 and was recognized by the great powers in the following year.

It was to his initiative after his quarrel with Turkey, which led to the loss by the Ottomans of Eastern Rumelia, that the Balkan league was formed and the war against the Turks was begun. In the first campaign King Ferdinand went to the front and was present at the siege of Adrianople and all the great engagements of the war. Disputes over the division of the spoils of war led to quarrels among the four nations composing the league and these culminated in a declaration of war by Serbia and Greece against Bulgaria.

As a result of this war Bulgaria lost a large part of the territory won from the Turks.

ICE HOUSE FIRE

Lowell Firemen Were Called to No. Chelmsford This Morning

A telephone alarm was sent to the Lowell fire department early this morning by the chief of the North Chelmsford firemen but the call was occasioned by potential danger more than an actual conflagration. A small shed near the big ice houses in North Chelmsford caught fire and for a time it looked as though the ice houses would catch fire. The flames were eventually extinguished, however. The steamers 2, which was sent out to the aid of the North Chelmsford firemen was met at the corner of Middlesex and Wood streets and turned back.

LOST AT SEA COTTON GOODS

Man Drowned When
His Dory Was Cut in
Two by Schooner

Demand for Fabrics
Quite Brisk and Business Fairly Active

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—With her flag at half mast, the fishing schooner Onata arrived at T wharf yesterday, reporting the loss of Horace Nickerson, one of the crew, when the dory in which he had been fishing was cut in two by the schooner.

The Onata had just completed a day's fishing about 15 miles east-south-east of Thacher's Island and had recalled the dories. The first to answer the call was that in which Nickerson and Joseph Atwood had been fishing.

The Onata swung up in the wind to permit the dory to come up alongside, but instead of doing what was expected of them the two men in the dory attempted to cross the vessel's bows. A strong wind was blowing, which drove them down on the schooner. At the same moment the wind filled the sails of the schooner and she forged ahead, cutting the dory almost in two and throwing the men into the water.

Atwood was unable to swim, but grasped the gunwale and dragged himself into it. Nickerson was able to swim, but made no attempt to reach the dory. He was weighed down by sea-boots and oilskins and floundered helplessly in the rough sea.

The men on the schooner were unable to offer any immediate aid to the two men, for all the dories were out and the nearest one was half a mile to windward. The captain headed for the nearest dory and towed it to the place where the half-sunk dory was wallowing in the waves with Atwood lying in the bottom.

Nickerson had disappeared. Two men rowed to the damaged boat and took Atwood aboard, and after relating the wreck of the dory on deck Captain Lacklin headed for Provincetown, where he telegraphed the news to the relatives of the drowned man.

Nickerson was 39 years old and unmarried. He lived in Nova Scotia, where his father, Levi Nickerson, lives.

Form of Ownership
Of the total number of mills reported for the industry in 1909, 84 per cent were owned by corporations, as compared with 79.9 per cent in 1904; of the total value of products the corporate establishments contributed 95.3 per cent in 1909 and 92.3 per cent in 1904. These figures indicate a slight gain during the five year period in the relative importance, as measured by value of products, of corporate ownership of the total number of wage earners, 53.6, or 3.4 per cent, were employed in establishments under individual ownership, 11,250, or 2 per cent, in those under firm ownership, 24,224, or 35.6 per cent, in those owned by corporations.

Of the 124 establishments reported for 1909, 152, or 12.3 per cent, manufactured products valued at $100,000 or over. These were included in this group five establishments with products valued at $5,000,000 or over; the aggregate value of their products exceeding $37,000,000. The small establishments—that is, those manufacturing products valued at less than $50,000—constituted a very small proportion of the total number at both censuses, and the value of their products formed only one-tenth of one per cent of the total.

The average value of products per establishment increased from $290,353 in 1904 to $414,615 in 1909, and the average number of wage earners likewise increased from 274 in 1904 to 286 in 1909.

The total expenses reported for the industry in 1909 were $554,221,558, distributed as follows: Cost of materials, $374,085,470, or 67.3 per cent; wages, $125,315,915, or 22.4 per cent; salaries, $14,411,735, or 2.6 per cent; miscellaneous expenses, made up of advertising, ordinary repairs of buildings and machinery, insurance, traveling expenses, and other sundry expenses, $38,241,918, or 6.8 per cent.

The states which ranked highest with respect to the amount of power used were Massachusetts, South Carolina, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Georgia. The total horsepower reported for these states in 1909 was 292,625, or 63.6 per cent of the total for the entire industry in the United States. Steam was the most important form of power used in the cotton industry in 1909. In which states water power was used to a greater extent than any other form of power. Although a large proportion of the power used in this industry is either water or wind, electric power, the amount of fuel consumed is very large. Bituminous coal is the principal fuel used. In 1909, 3,327,592 short tons being consumed in 1909. Massachusetts reported the largest quantity, 318,635 tons, or over one-fourth of the entire amount used in the industry.

Cost of Materials
The total cost of materials reported for 1909, which, however, includes a considerable amount of duplication, was $374,085,470, an increase of $124,567,942, or 101.1 per cent, over 1904. It is interesting to note that the most important material, the amount used by establishments having increased from 1,517,643,390 pounds in 1909 to 2,335,344,595 pounds in 1909, or 53.6 per cent, and its cost from $125,315,915 to $274,224,210, or 119.5 per cent.

One of the most important points brought out in the marked increase in cotton consumption in the cotton-growing states and the consequent decrease in the relative importance of the older manufacturing sections. In 1909 the New England states reported 63.9 per cent of the total cotton consumption for the industry, but the proportion had decreased to 51.8 per cent, in 1909, and to 43.6 per cent in 1909. On the other hand, the cotton-growing states, which comprise Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and the states south, reported 22.4 per cent of the total consumption in 1909, 35.5 per cent in 1909, and 49.8 per cent in 1909. Massachusetts was in 1909, as it had been in prior census years, the largest consumer of cotton, 1,241,614 bales, or 622,565,627 pounds, being used in the cotton manufacturing industry of the state during the year. North Carolina was the next largest user of cotton in 1909. South Carolina was third, Georgia fourth, and New Hampshire fifth.

Value of Products
The total value of all products reported by establishments in the industry, designated "cotton goods," including cotton small wares, in 1909 was $225,351,813, a gain of $285,191,453, or 155.3 per cent, over 1904. This increase is due in part to the higher prices prevailing in 1909. The total number of square yards of fabric woven by establishments in the industry increased 43.5 per cent, between 1909 and 1909. The value of goods in 1909 represented a little less than three-fourths of the total value of all products.

Plain cloths for printing or dyeing comprise by far the most important class of cotton goods, as measured by quantity, constituting in 1909, 25 per cent of the total. Broad and bleached shirtings and shirtings ranked second, followed by gingham.

fancy woven fabrics, twills and satens, and napped fabrics, in the order named, the production of each of these classes of cloths being more than 300,000,000 square yards in 1909. The output of plain cloths for printing or dyeing increased 40.7 per cent, between 1909 and 1909, and its value 32.3 per cent. The output of shirtings and shirtings increased 22.4 per cent, and their value 69 per cent. For these, as for practically all the other classes of products, the percentage of increase in value was much greater than that in quantity. The most important products of the industry, other than woven fabrics, are yarns, thread, and cotton waste. The value of the yarns made for sale as such in 1909 was $105,314,553, or more than one-sixth of the total value of products of the industry. A considerable part of this yarn was sold to other establishments for the same industry. The quantity of yarn reported produced for sale in 1909 was 470,376,955 pounds, while the quantity of yarns reported as purchased by cotton mills was 126,707,603 pounds. The amount of thread manufactured increased 49 per cent, and its value 12.3 per cent. Cordage and twine are the most important of the secondary products of the cotton manufacturing industry, cotton twine and cotton cordage and rope to the amount of 21,319,678 pounds having been reported for 1909 by establishments engaged primarily in this industry. The value of these products was $2,581,917.

Number of Spindles and Looms
The total number of cotton spindles in the textile industries in 1909 was 23,375,892, of which 19,427,608 were in the cotton mills, including a comparatively small number in mills making cotton small wares. The increase in the number of spindles from 1909 to 1909 was 3,079,804, or 35.3 per cent, and from 1909 to 1909, 8,714,878, or 44.8 per cent. The greatest percentage of increase in any industry from 1909 to 1909 was in the hosiery and knit-goods industry—1318 per cent. Eight states—Georgia, the two Carolinas, and all the New England states except Vermont—reported over 1,000,000 active revolving spindles in 1909. Massachusetts, the leading state, with 5,427,691 spindles, a gain of 1,705,936, or 21.5 per cent, for the 10 year period 1899-1909. South Carolina reported the greatest absolute and relative increase during the decade, the gain being 2,323,922 spindles, or 181.7 per cent. In North Carolina the increase was 1,820,500 spindles, or 160.1 per cent.

While the number of ring spindles has increased rapidly from census to census, the number of mule spindles reported has decreased steadily from 1899 to 1909. In 1909 only 10,019,283, or 42.8 per cent, of the total, and in 1909, only 17.2 per cent. The use of mule spindles is confined chiefly to the northern states.

There was a total of 632,563 looms complete in the cotton mills in 1909 (exclusive of the mills in the cotton small wares industry). The number of looms increased 132,251, or 10.4 per cent, during the decade. The greatest increase for the decade in any geographic division was 56,379, or 101.3 per cent, in the South Atlantic division. In the New England division shows an increase of 10,019,283, or 10.4 per cent. The average number of spindles per spinner was 354 in 1904, and 407 in 1909, and the average number of looms per weaver was 5.5 in 1904, and 6.5 in 1909. The several states differ in the number of spindles per spinner, the figures for the southern states being very much lower than those for the New England states.

Cotton Small Wares
A considerable number of establishments which use cotton or cotton yarn as their chief material do not make piece goods, but confine their operations mainly to the manufacture of narrow fabrics, such as braids, tapes, binding, shoe laces, and corset laces, incidentally spinning small quantities of yarn for sale. These establishments constitute the cotton small wares branch of the cotton manufacturing industry.

From 1909 to 1904 the number of establishments in the cotton small wares branch of the industry decreased from 82 to 67, 1909 these establishments numbered 105. The average number of wage earners increased 56.1 per cent, during the decade, and the value of products increased 106 per cent, during the same period. In 1909 the largest number of establishments was reported for Pennsylvania, with Rhode Island ranking next, but in value of products the latter state ranked first. Three states show a very considerable increase in value of products between 1909 and 1909, namely Massachusetts (164.5 per cent), Rhode Island (151.1 per cent), and Pennsylvania (145.1 per cent).

The total value of products in the cotton small wares industry in 1909 was $13,174,111, as compared with $5,394,161 in 1909. The total cost of materials was $6,395,506, an increase of 124.9 per cent, over 1909. There were 23,508 spindles, and 32,958 looms reported for 1909, a decrease of 10 per cent, and 30 per cent, and an increase in the latter of 52.3 per cent, over 1909.

BAND CONCERT
Despite the inclement weather the state armory in Westford street was yesterday afternoon the scene of a large gathering, the occasion being the last in a series of municipal concerts. The Sixth Regiment band, Bert F. Taber, conductor, supplied excellent music and the numbers heard were different from all well rendered. The audience which was large, was very appreciative for the pleasure was frequent, and many encores were called for.

RUMORS OF WAR

Mobilization of 2nd Regiment in Springfield Causes Excitement

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 10.—The mobilization of the 2d regiment, the entire roster of the 2d regiment, M. V. M., the officers, hospital corps and band, was the cause of great excitement in Worcester, Hampden, Berkshire and Hampshire counties yesterday, and the spectacle of uniformed men passing through the streets and boarding trains led to widely circulated rumors that war had broken out with Mexico. The alarming rumors spread rapidly throughout the western part of the state and caused great excitement in the cities and towns where the summons was sounded. Men telephoned to various sources of information and some even telegraphed to Washington to learn whether the nation was involved in war with Mexico. The excitement was unintentionally caused by Col. William C. Hayes, who sent the call for the men of the regiment to gather here. The entire command answered railroad by companies within six hours after the first summons was issued.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning Col. Hayes and his adjutant, Paul R. Norton, commenced notifying the company officers by telephone that they were to report with their commands at the armory at the earliest possible moment. The companies were as follows: A, of Worcester; B, of Springfield; C, of Worcester; D, of Holyoke; E, of Orange; F, of Pittsfield; G, of Springfield; H, of Worcester; I, of Northampton; K, of Springfield; L, of Greenfield; M, of Adams; hospital corps and band of Springfield. The telephone calls were completed at 8:45, the last companies arriving from Worcester at 12:55. The intention of Col. Hayes was to have the entire regiment march to Forest Park for maneuvers, but owing to the inclement weather the march was called off. Men were served in the armory, after which the men listened to an address by Walton L. Danks of Worcester, regimental chaplain, on the inadvisability of war.

The regiment reassembled shortly before 6 o'clock and headed by the band, marched to the Union station, where the out-of-town companies entrained for their homes. Col. Hayes said last night that the mobilization was a complete success.

BERKSHIRES EXCITED

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 10.—A sudden call "to arms" of Co. F, M. V. M., caused a lot of excitement through central Berkshire yesterday. At 9:30 the fire whistle blew 10 blasts and word was spread broadcast there was a big fire, although that number is not on the fire list. Half an hour later the signal was given again.

Between 30 and 40 officers and men responded and upon reaching the armory received orders to take the 10:30 train for Springfield. Residents in Berkshire towns surrounding Pittsfield heard war had been declared on Mexico and any number of telephone inquiries were received here. One Pittsfield man wired Washington to learn the truth.

CALLING IN NORTHAMPTON

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 10.—Thirty-five men and three officers of Co. I, 2d regiment, responded yesterday morning to the 10 strokes of the fire alarm bell which was sounded at 5:55 and was a summons to report at Springfield for the mobilization of the regiment. The company, with Co. L of Greenfield and Co. D of Holyoke, was taken to Springfield by special train.

ALARM IN WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Nov. 10.—Responding to a general order, Cos. A, C and H of the 2d regiment went to Springfield yesterday for mobilization. The gathering of the men in the armory was started at 5 o'clock when alarm lists were circulated. By 12 the men were ready for the trip to Springfield.

As a result of the uniformed men parading through the streets, rumors of war with Mexico were circulated.

SHOT BY DOCTOR

Nurse Victim of Accident in Malden Hospital

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—That a nurse in the Malden hospital was accidentally shot by the house physician, Dr. Stanley F. Duncan, more than five weeks ago became known in Malden yesterday. The shooting occurred shortly after another nurse, Miss Robinson, was assaulted and stabbed by an unknown man, and was the result of precautions taken against further attacks being made on the hospital nurses.

According to Dr. Godfrey Ryder, a member of the medical board, the injured nurse is Miss Maude Eastwood. "Dr. Duncan," said Dr. Ryder yesterday, "was authorized by the Malden police to carry a revolver in order to protect the nurses from further assault."

"Dr. Duncan, when he obtained the revolver, showed it to Miss Eastwood and several other nurses. While he was examining it a shell, which was in one of the chambers, was discharged, the bullet striking Miss Eastwood in the left shoulder."

"The wound was only a slight one in the flesh, and caused the nurse no inconvenience. The matter was so trivial that nothing was said about it, although no efforts were taken to suppress the affair."

GOOD SUPPLY OF MENHADEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Fearing that the fishing industry might be ruined by the immense catches of menhaden used in the manufacture of oil and fertilizer seems to be dispelled by a report from the United States fish commission which declares the supply of menhaden does not appear to be diminishing. The menhaden, which is food for other fish, is exceedingly prolific and it is thought in spite of the big catches of this fish along the Atlantic coast, that the future supply is in no danger.

The present season is not over but figures just prepared, for last year show that 6,650,000 gallons of oil and 53,000 tons of fertilizer were made from the menhaden. This was valued at $3,700,000.

Are You Subject to Backache?

The muscles of the back are constantly under heavy strain and have but little rest throughout the day. They are therefore in need of all the nourishment and strength that plenty of pure, red blood can give them. Unless they have this help you will have backache and continue to have it.

Backache seldom or never means kidney trouble. It is nothing more than the tired, weary, worn-out muscles of the back showing their exhaustion because of lack of good pure blood.

If you are subject to backache you have reason to suspect the condition of your blood. The one generally recognized blood purifier and builder—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is worthy a serious trial.

Call at your druggist's and get a box of these pills. You will find them different and more effective than any other medicine you can take for the blood. You will notice that besides strengthening your nerves and banishing your backache Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will tone up your entire system and give you an appetite that will make your meals enjoyable.

TROOPS GO SOUTH

Four Troops of Cavalry To be Started Under Left Fort Myers, Va., for Fort Bliss, Texas

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The first squadron, four troops of the 15th cavalry, commanded by Col. Jos. Garland, left Fort Myers, Va., today by train for Fort Bliss, Tex., to relieve the third squadron of the Fifth cavalry patrolling the Mexican border.

The movement is in accordance with orders issued a month ago. Two squadrons of the 15th cavalry at Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, are to relieve the other two squadrons of the Fifth cavalry on the border and the Second cavalry are to be relieved by the Tenth cavalry now at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont. Orders have not yet been issued for the transfer of the Second and Fifth cavalry to their northern and eastern stations.

A NON-PARTISAN BILL

PRES. WILSON BELIEVES THE CURRENCY BILL WILL BE SUPPORTED BY ALL PARTIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Only in the sense that the democratic party will be responsible for currency legislation and therefore must direct its progress does President Wilson believe the currency bill will be made a party measure. He told callers today that he expected it would be a non-partisan bill when completed.

The president said he regarded it as a significant circumstance that the conference called for Wednesday by democratic senators was a spontaneous set on their part and not at his request. The president pointed out that the move, however, met with his entire approval and indicated that a great many democratic senators were growing as anxious as he that the currency program be accelerated.

TEMPLETON DISCHARGED

COULD NOT BE HELD FOR KILLING MISS MARGARET KENEFFICK

NEWTON, Nov. 10.—Holding that the death of Miss Margaret Kenefick, who was killed Saturday by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of William Templeton was an accident, Judge Kennedy of the district court discharged Templeton from custody today. Templeton, although not charged with any offense, had been detained since the young woman's death.

ANIMALS WITH TUBERCULOSIS

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Fifteen years from now there would be no meat to eat if all animals in the primary stage of tuberculosis should be rejected by official inspectors," said Dr. Theobald Smith of the Harvard medical school. Dr. Smith made this assertion to the students in an address yesterday to emphasize the extent to which he said tuberculosis had increased among animals. He explained that animals in the primary stage of the disease were not condemned by officials, as it was not necessary for the protection of the food supply. He urged a rigid enforcement of regulations for the killing of all animals in advanced stages of tuberculosis and the establishment of local abattoirs under scientific inspection.

UNFILLED TONNAGE OF U. S. STEEL

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel Corporation on Oct. 31 totalled 4,513,767 tons, a decrease of 49,015 tons from September. This is the tenth consecutive monthly decrease this year.

NIGHT SCHOOL

To be Started Under the Auspices of the C. Y. M. L.

The final arrangements for the evening preparatory business school under the auspices of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum of this city were completed at a business meeting of the organization yesterday when Rev. Bro. Osmund addressed the body. The classes will start at 7:15 o'clock this evening, and will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week. The subjects to be taught will include English, arithmetic, full course, spelling, penmanship, the latter the famous Palmer method of business writing; bookkeeping, a modern method; and a special course in stenography and typewriting.

The interest in this school on the part of the members of the lyceum is intense and it followed out according to the indications, he classes will be highly successful. It is the intention to hold this first for members of the C. Y. M. L., and later, if the attendance and interest warrants, to extend it to all the young men of the parish. The teachers will be Rev. Brother Osmund, principal of St. Patrick's boys' school, through whose kindness and energy this night school originated; preparation for civil service examinations will be the aim of the school.

"Lowell Night" will be observed by the Catholic Young Men's club of Lawrence on the evening of November 20, when the members of the Lyceum and their lady friends will journey to the down river city as a return visit. Recently the Lawrence people came to Lowell and were guests of the Lyceum here and a most enjoyable evening of dancing, games, etc. was spent. A similar program will be carried out in Lawrence on that occasion. Six new chest weights and some other apparatus have arrived and are being installed in the gymnasium of the lyceum in Suffolk street. The basketball games will start tomorrow night when the second team of the society will line up against a picked team.

BUCK O'BRIEN HOME

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Pitcher Buck O'Brien, who started out with the world's champion Red Sox of 1912, later to be sold to the Chicago White Sox and subsequently, by Manager Jimmy Callahan, shunted off to the Pacific Coast league, is back again in his accustomed haunts. O'Brien will make his home in Brockton his headquarters for a few weeks, and then Buck intends going out in vaudeville with a singing act in which he is the whole thing.

O'Brien declares that he had considerable difficulty in getting started this season and that, after he first went to California, he found that the change in the climate bothered him a lot. At the end of the Pacific Coast season, and it didn't end until two weeks ago yesterday, O'Brien was pitching better ball than at any time during the season.

© BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Mrs. John Jacob Astor still refuses to indulge in even the mildest social activities and wears heavy mourning on all occasions. She is deeply interested in the plans for a memorial in the state of Washington for her husband, the multi-millionaire who was lost on the steamship Titanic in April, 1912. The accompanying photo is the first one Mrs. Astor has had taken since the Titanic sank. It was snapped while she was taking an airing in New York city, accompanied by her favorite pet, an Airedale terrier named Patsey.

ST. PATRICK'S ALUMNI

HET YESTERDAY AND MADE ARRANGEMENTS FOR ANNUAL BANQUET AND REUNION

That the sixth annual banquet and reunion of the members of the alumni association of St. Patrick's boys' school will take place on the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 30, was definitely decided at a meeting of the association held in the hall of St. Patrick's parochial school. Yesterday J. Harry Flaherty was chosen chairman of the meeting and a general discussion took place regarding the details of the affair. Among the speakers were Rev. Brother Osmund, Wm. D. Reagan, John J. Hanlon, Michael Adams and William Smith. A committee on speakers was elected and consisted of J. L. Cronin and John F. Murphy. A fitting program will be prepared for the evening and every effort made to have the affair a record one in the history of the organization. Another meeting will be held in the school hall on next Sunday morning when the arrangements of the details of the event will be discussed.

EXCUSE ME

SHOT IN BACK FEARED BY HUERTA

Man Killed by Farmer
Despite Latter's Efforts to Save Him

WEST HAVEN, Vt., Nov. 10.—Charles Gordon, fisherman and hunter, was shot fatally yesterday during a dispute with William Koch over some traps which Gordon had set on Koch's farm in this town. Gordon died on his way to the hospital after Koch had summoned three physicians by special train from Whitehall, N. Y., to attend him. Koch was arrested.

Shot in the Back

Gordon, who was 55 years old, lived alone in a houseboat on the New York shore of Lake Champlain. When he rowed across to the Vermont side yesterday to examine some of his traps on Koch's farm, the owner of the farm, who was formerly a New York game warden, discovered him and ordered him off the premises. In the quarrel which followed, Gordon received a 28 calibre revolver bullet in the back.

As soon as Koch saw that Gordon was seriously wounded, he telephoned to Whitehall for physicians and had a special train provided for them. Meanwhile, Gordon, at his own request, had been conveyed in a rowboat to his houseboat, which was nearly a mile away across the lake. When the three doctors from Whitehall arrived, they found the condition of the wounded man desperate. At Koch's request that everything possible be done to get Gordon to a hospital, a yacht was chartered to tow the houseboat to Whitehall, but Gordon died before the goal was reached.

Koch was removed to the house of correction at Rutland, last night, after State Attorney B. L. Stafford and deputy sheriffs had examined him. He is a prosperous farmer, 35 years old, and has a wife and two children. He formerly lived in Whitehall.

Gordon was not married. His mother and four brothers survive him. Koch admitted the shooting, but said that it was accidental. He had remonstrated with Gordon against setting traps in his game preserve, he said, when Gordon raised his arm as if to attack him, and at that instant the revolver which Koch was holding was discharged. Koch said he was unable to understand how the bullet entered Gordon's back.

Koch's game preserve consists of about 2000 acres of land which he has stocked with wild birds and animals of various kinds in the last few years. He has been much annoyed of late by poachers.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION

A fine exhibition of the Copley Prints is now being held at the store of Messrs. G. C. Prince & Son, Merrimack street, in charge of William B. MacLennan, a special representative of Curtis & Cameron, the Boston publishers.

This is a rare opportunity for the residents of Lowell to see displayed in hand colored and sepia prints, the best works of American artists. The large colored reproductions of Abbey's frieze "The Quest of the Holy Grail" are remarkably fine. Other artists represented in this display are Sargent, Inness, Saint Gaudens, Alexander, and so on. Those interested in something different in the way of art reproductions will be specially attracted by the remarkable fac-similes of artist's drawings and of old color prints of Boston as it appeared one hundred years ago. The variety of the prints shown and their beautiful quality are noteworthy, and well worth a visit of inspection.

CARRANZA AND DIAZ ARE HIS TWO BITTEREST AND MOST POWERFUL OPPONENTS

HERMOSILLO, Mexico, Nov. 10.—General Carranza, the Constitutionalists' leader, has become the central figure in the Mexican situation as affecting American interests. He is backed by American interests desiring to overthrow Huerta and the United States government has openly conducted negotiations with him through Dr. William Bayard Hale. Carranza has a big force of soldiery and says he could treble his fighting force if he could get sufficient arms and ammunition. The accompanying photo is particularly interesting. It shows General Carranza walking in Mexico City with General Felix Diaz, who narrowly escaped assassination in Havana a few days ago at the hands of men alleged to represent Huerta. Carranza and Diaz are the two bitterest and most powerful opponents of the Huerta regime.

Gen. CARRANZA and DIAZ

Consumption Takes 350 People Daily

in the United States and the deadly germs claim more victims in cities than in rural districts, due no doubt to the increased number of indoor workers in confining quarters and their lack of sunshine.

Tubercular germs always attack when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, overstrain, confining duties or any drain which has reduced the resistive forces of the body. But nature always provides a corrector and the best physicians emphasize that during changing climate our blood should be kept rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood—it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and upbuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known; it builds energy and strength and is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug—every druggist has it.

DISGUISED AS BOY

Rutland Girl Who Tried to End Life When
Jilted Was in Lowell

RUTLAND, Vt., Nov. 10.—While the physicians are fighting hard to save the life of Miss Della Abbott, the 17-year-old girl who took poison in an attempt to commit suicide, the state and federal authorities are searching for Russell Chaisson, who eloped with her several weeks ago. The hospital staff gave out a report that she had a slight chance for recovery. It is known that she has admitted to the authorities more of her story.

The couple left Rutland about the middle of September and the girl returned a week ago. She expected her lover back last week and when he did not return she drank the poison. They were in Boston and vicinity most of the time.

Miss Abbott's appearance is sufficient proof that she saw extreme hardship during her absence, for she is scarcely recognizable as the pretty little girl known to her Rutland friends. Since her return Miss Abbott has shown much reluctance to disclose anything of her experience. Her acknowledgment that she went to Chaisson to Boston, where she worked in a shoe factory and boarded on Tremont street, was finally added to in many particulars.

She said that the young man took her to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Nathan McGinnis, on Shawmut avenue, and to other houses where, the girl said, the people told her she must not go out alone and she saw nothing of the city except on two occasions, when she went to theatres with Chaisson.

Her story was not told connectively, but details, reluctantly admitted, have been pieced together. Chaisson, she said, took her to the North station Friday and told her that he would come on Monday or Tuesday and marry her. Nothing has been heard from him since.

According to evidence secured by Boston detectives, Miss Abbott, in despair at Chaisson's failure to make her his wife, attempted to commit suicide in the Shawmut avenue house, Sept. 20, by gas, and was nearly dead when found.

At a Dover street house in Boston, where detectives traced the couple, it is said that Chaisson was known as Clerk and that at other times he was known as Chase. That the Rutland girl was the one who, with a man, walked from Boston to Lowell disguised as a boy, has been considered probable, and the fact that the girl's hair had been cut short across the front and her scared admission, with refusal to give particulars, that she had been in Lowell, seem to bear out this.

THE COTTON INDUSTRY

WITH OUTPUT VALUED AT $625,000,000 RANKS THIRD IN THE NUMBER OF PERSONS EMPLOYED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—With an output valued at more than $625,000,000, the cotton mill industry in 1909 ranked third among the industries of the United States in the number of persons employed and seventh in the value of goods produced. The figures for that year, just compiled by the census bureau, were made public today. A striking feature of the report was the discovery that the increase in manufacturing was much greater in the southern states than in the north. "The industry is confined almost entirely to the states east of the Missis-

Massachusetts is the most important state, North Carolina ranked second; South Carolina, third, and Rhode Island fourth. Georgia, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Alabama in the order named were the states next in rank. In general the percentages of increase in the leading southern cotton manufacturing states were greater than those in the northern states."

In three states, Alabama, South and North Carolina, the report sets forth nearly 19 per cent. of all employees in the mills were children under 16 years. In Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, however, it was found that the proportion of women employed in the mills was much greater than in the south.

While the seas were raging about the stranded vessel and her hull was pounding against the gale shrieking, one of her crew braved what appeared to be imminent death, when he left his shipmate and dashed to the forecastle as they were embarking in the boats. The young man was Everett Sawyer of this city. While his friends questioned him sharply regarding his action, it was not until the men had been saved by the rescue schooner Tilton, that the real reason for his desertion became known. Sawyer had gone for a picture of his sweetheart, which was below at the time the vessel struck the reef.

The photograph was that of Miss Marie Porper, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Robert Porper of Gloucester. Playmates since childhood and each the same age, 17 years old, Sawyer took the photograph of the girl with him when he shipped to sea.

It was the one possession he continued to hold and saved at the moment all hands thought the ship was going to sink beneath them.

At the Sunday morning service at St. Anne's church it was announced that Bishop Lawrence will visit the parish Thursday evening, December 18, when an informal reception will be held in the parish rooms.

This week will be a very active one in St. Anne's parish. Tonight will be held the annual and quarterly meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society, presided by a service in the chapel at 7.30. Tuesday the Women's Beneficial society will meet in the parish rooms at 2.30 p. m. and at 4 o'clock Rev. Mr. Davenport, secretary of the missionary council of the department of New England, will speak.

Wednesday evening, at 8.15 o'clock, the pastor will meet at the rectory the members of the parish who are interested in the work of building a parish house, the plans for which are already underway. It is stated that the approximate cost will be $20,000.

THE CURRENCY BILL

With only three weeks to the time that the special session of congress will end it becomes doubtful if the currency bill will become law before the next regular session despite the wishes of the president to the contrary. He has always insisted on its consideration during the present session and wisely, for the tariff bill was only half its scheme of business reform, and he has a great many other important matters in hand which can be considered only when the currency question is settled. Now, however, there seems to be no disposition among the members of the senate committee on banking and currency, to hurry the measure along, and though they have made some important changes in it, there are differences of opinion in evidence of sufficient importance to make its chances of success seem dim at the present time.

The Glass bill has been shown by experts to be a decided improvement over the currency system now in vogue and the sincerity of most of the opposition to it is questionable. There seems to be too great a desire to make it perfect in unimportant details, even in face of the fact that provision has been made for the adjustment of any minor inconsistencies that would naturally crop out in its operation. Those who believe that it would remove many of the present restraints of business must have some degree of sympathy with the proposal of Hoke Smith and other democrats of national prominence, to put some coercion on the committee by caucus or otherwise. On the other hand it is gratifying to learn that most of the improvements have left it unchanged in principle and whether passed in the present session or during the regular session that will begin December 1st it will bear the finish the distinguishing marks that make it superior to the inadequate financial system now in force.

Were the tariff bill followed by the panic so strenuously predicted by some who loved their unlawful profits more than they loved the country or its people, the necessity for the new currency bill would have been felt so strongly that it would have been passed through the senate without delay. But we have struggled along with the present currency system for many years—some say we have struggled along in spite of it—and there is no immediate need for the passage of the new measure which has not existed for a long time. But before another critical strain comes on the industry of the country, it is to be hoped that we shall have a currency bill with the features included that make the Glass bill so desirable from the business point of view. While expediency is to be hoped for, there is no great reason to fear delay. Currency revision is sure to come, for it is backed by the administration with unusual earnestness and the public has been educated in the financial situation by the long and comprehensive discussion that has followed the progress of the bill in both houses of congress.

TO TEMPT FATE

The boldness of the declaration of Congressman Gardner that he will be a candidate for the governorship a year hence and that he will retire from congress for the purpose of making a more effective campaign than he made this year, leads us to suppose that he enjoyed his defeat sufficiently to make him wish for the experience again. If he believes that the members of his party will change their views sufficiently in the meantime to let him lead them from the very humiliating position of third place, he is more optimistically buoyant than Shakespeare's "little woman boys that swim on bladders." It would be ungratifying to suppose that Mr. Gardner is actuated by anything more selfish than the noble desire to again make a fight for principle, but it seems extremely doubtful that the republican party will allow any man to lead them a second time like lambs to the slaughter for the finest set of principles that were ever born in a head with a halo of real or imaginary progressiveness around it.

Before coming to the lofty resolve to again sacrifice himself for the good of his party, Congressman Gardner might have advantageously sat down in a quiet place apart and thought things over. He might have asked himself why his campaign lacked enthusiasm and grew more dead daily. He might have asked himself just how far were his perorations really desirable and in how much they were personal hobbies. He might have come to some wise solutions of the difficulties that have made the republican party unpopular in this state. He might—but what's the use?—he didn't. He must have taken the view that instead of being the candidate of a party that until very recently dominated the politics of Massachusetts and swept all opposition before it, he was the apostle of some strange ideal doctrine that had appealed to 116,000 people or so. No wonder he felt elated enough to announce his candidacy for the nomination next year. But alas for the hopes of Mr.

Gardner there are sundry rumblings which seem to portend that if he again runs for governor it will be under some independent banner such as that carried so courageously by Governor Fess and mayhap with like result.

EXECUTION OF WOMAN

A great stir has been created in Connecticut and in a lesser degree throughout the country by the sentence passed upon a Mrs. Wakefield, who has been condemned to die on the scaffold for her part in the murder of her husband. Governor Baldwin has been petitioned from all sides to commute her sentence to imprisonment for life, but he appears firm in his determination to let the law take its course. As no woman has been hanged in that state for over one hundred years, there has been no attempt to abolish the death penalty or provide a more merciful form of capital punishment. Whatever may be the outcome in the present instance, it is probable that the wide discussion of the case will result in the abandonment of the scaffold.

One unusual feature of the case of Mrs. Wakefield is that a number of women interested in the cause of woman suffrage are opposed to any commutation of her sentence, based on her sex, because they argue there should be one law for women and men equally. This stand is regrettable for though it is consistent as an abstract proposition from the point of view of the suffragette, it is against the better feelings of thousands of men and women whose humanity is too deep to be swayed either way by the argument of a day as contrasted with the feelings moulded by the civilizing hand of time. No matter how strong may be the case of the one who argues for equal treatment for men and women, there will always be thoughtful thousands to protest against the inflicting of capital punishment on an erring woman, especially when that death takes the form of hanging. It will be interesting in the present case to see if the protests of societies and individuals throughout the country will have any influence on the governor of Connecticut.

THE INDIANAPOLIS STRIKE

While it may have been "inevitable and necessary" that Gov. Ralston call out the state militia to protect the public of Indianapolis from riots attendant on the street car strikes there, we do not need the lessons of the Lawrence strike to teach us that his action was to be regretted as an acknowledgment of incompetence on the part of the municipal officials and the police department of the troubled city. It is almost preposterous to assert that in a city of the status of Indianapolis an employing company and its employees could not reach some agreement without calling on the state militia to still further antagonize the principals and put a heavy financial strain on the people. If we imagine the possibility of such an issue in Lowell, there are few who will believe that it could not be settled without the intervention of the state militia. The most regrettable feature of all strikes is obstinacy whether regarded from the point of view of the employer or the employed. If arbitration is resorted to in some form when the trouble starts there is every hope of its adjustment, but when the opposing parties refuse to come together we may have the national disgrace of state troops that are meant for the protection of all the people intervening to save one part of the community from the other.

PARCEL POST GROWING

In order to handle the greatly increased and increasing business, and to prepare for the coming Christmas season, two new terminal railway postoffices have just been opened in Boston in the North and South stations for the express purpose of handling the parcel post. These offices are in addition to the postoffices already established for the purpose of handling the mail proper, and are meant to relieve the congestion that has arisen owing to the great increase in business. They will remove a great strain from the Boston office as well as the railway postoffices.

What is true of Boston is more or less true of almost every other city in the state. In Springfield the inclosure has been such as to make the citizens look for a new postoffice and the same is true elsewhere. Probably with the holiday season the volume of business in this department will severely tax the local postoffice, already hopelessly inadequate. The parcel post is bound to increase as people become more and more aware of its great advantages and it has already justified itself beyond the expectation of its warmest supporters.

Seen and Heard

Fashions for dogs are quite as important as those for human beings in the opinion of many fond owners of the animals, who are quite as anxious that the costumes of their pets shall be of the very latest style as that their own outfits shall be above reproach, says the Weekly Scotsman. The very newest and most striking sartorial effect for dogs includes a knitted jacket, a gold necklace and a pair of patent leather shoes.

Ordinary sweaters have long been fashionable for dogs, and some of the small animals which suffer very much from the cold, were seen during the last winter with two coverings while out on promenade. The underwrap was a tight-fitting sweater, which extended to quite a distance over the animal's legs. Over this garment was worn the usual blanket coat, which was formerly considered quite sufficient as a wrap.

The fashionable small dog has always its monogrammed handkerchiefs, which are smartly tucked in the pocket of the coat or sweater. Boots to be worn when it is allowed to play in the streets or garden and taken off when it enters the house are also not infrequently a feature of its wardrobe. Motor goggles are considered necessary for some dogs, since they are so fond of the automobile and suffer as do human beings from wind and dust when their eyes are unprotected during a long and rapid run.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Sometimes we see men when leaving the plant, so forgetful of others that they actually run or climb over their shopmates in order to be among the first outside the gates, yet when their destination is reached they stop to light a cigarette and slowly saunter away. Usually you will find these same men each night among the loiterers at the street corners.

Another type comes in as soon as the doors are open, in a gentlemanly and orderly manner, dons his working clothes, and sits down to read the morning paper. It is probably the only chance he has to read, and it is usually the last score he turns to first. But why not? All day long he does the very best that is in him, although he does not seem to accomplish very much. He leaves his plant as he came in, and you call him a good fellow, who does the right thing always. You would, of course, grade him as "good."

Another type comes in quietly, and at the same time each day, a few minutes before the bell rings. His step is brisk, he is clean shaven, his clothes courteous and his work is perfect, always allowing a reasonable shrinkage.

He is always willing to suggest and help the little fellow, and he does each day much more than he is paid to do.

WHY LIAB AND I PARTED

Yes, Liab brought home from the lawyers that paper for me to sign.

Saying what was his should be his, and what was mine should be mine;

For Liab and I had quarreled so many times, you see.

So at last we agreed together we couldn't never agree.

I read the paper over, each separate paragraph.

And found that of all our property he'd give me the better half;

For he gave me the house and the homestead and kept the Holyrood hill.

He gave me the colt, Saladin, and kept the lame horse Bill.

He gave me the brindle heifer—we'd lost the line-back cow.

He gave me the sheep and the two white goats, and kept the lean old sow.

I was mad because he favored me, and made it show so plain.

And I suppose he thought one so much I should 'a' been mad away.

I should 'a' been mad away, and away I went, and away I went.

But, looking along the paper the next thing that I read the maples to gether when we're dead.

Then I knew the one choice left me was a flood of tears or tongue.

So I told him I wouldn't sign the thing to save him from being a fool.

In his mean old farm and live stock I scorned any part or share;

And I suppose he thought one so much I should 'a' been mad away.

I should 'a' been mad away, and away I went, and away I went.

Then straight in my face looked Liab, till I turned my head away.

He walked out through the kitchen without a word to say.

I heard his steps fall away, but I didn't see him go.

The maples were looking scarlet that he planted so long ago.

And under them played our Bessie, child of our happy years.

I heard her "meow" and then came a flood of tears.

But before I could reach the doorway, creaked the garden gate.

And to all my feelings it seemed to say "Too late."

Then Bessie came in from playing a tear on each round red cheek.

And asked me if I would go with her to the kitchen.

He kissed me but didn't go, and murmured and sobbed her name.

Up in my arms I caught her, and murmured and sobbed her name.

Up in my arms I caught her, and murmured and sobbed her name.

Up in my arms I caught her, and murmured and sobbed her name.

BARRETT

CANDIDATE FOR RE-NOMINATION AS COMMISSIONER

CITIZENS OF LOWELL

Carefully Consider These Points:

I have reduced the water rates 10 per cent. during my term of office as head of the Water Department.

Where for years the city proper has been served by one 30-inch pipe line, crossing the Merrimack river, and liable at any time to impairment, I have caused to be laid a second artery from the Centralville pumping station, giving not only to the Highlands a wholly adequate service, but insuring a plentiful city-wide supply at all times.

Motorization of the Fire Department, making for the greatest degree of efficiency ever known in this city, has been accomplished under my supervision.

Through my efforts a conference with the National Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters has been arranged with members of the Lowell Board of Trade. Its object is the reduction of the rates of insurance.

And two things alone can make this board decide to give you protection against fire loss for less money, and these are efficiency of the city's fire fighting force and an adequate supply of water.

We have them both. We will need no more fire houses or the creation of new companies for many years to come. The flying squadron will cover a district more quickly even than if horse drawn apparatus were located there. And it will cost less.

Just how have these things been accomplished?

The answer is plain:—

PERSONAL SUPERVISION TO EVERY DETAIL—KNOWING WHAT THE CITY IS GETTING AND MAKING SURE THAT IT IS WHAT THE CITY IS PAYING FOR—BEING ON THE JOB EVERY MINUTE OF THE TIME.

I shall speak during the present week at various places, which will be duly advertised in the newspapers of the city, and to these rallies I ask that citizens come, that they may acquaint themselves with the facts about my conduct of the Department of Water Works and Fire Protection.

In view of the improved conditions of the Departments of Water Works and Fire Protection, I ask your favorable consideration at the Caucuses Nov. 18.

REV. E. MILES FORMER ACTOR

Speaks on the Drama at
the Social Forum—
Talks of Plays

Says Drama is Valuable
Ally of the Church and
Unjustly Criticized

Rev. Edson Miles, for ten years an actor, spoke at the Social Forum service at Grace Universalist church, Sunday evening, and said that much of the criticism of the theatre is deserved, but it is not all just; that high-minded people should take a more intelligent and active interest in the theatre, and that the drama should be looked upon as a valuable ally of the church. In part, he said:

"My conclusion of the drama is, in part, drawn from a very close connection with it. For ten years I participated in various productions and during that time about 50 plays, classic as well as modern, were given. I speak of this fact in order that you may get my point of view of the ethics of the drama.

"Much of the criticism of the theatre is deserved, but it is not all just. The responsibility for the production of harmful plays is wrongly placed many times. I firmly believe that dramatic art has a legitimate field in which to work and in which to do much good.

"The first question concerning the ideals of dramatic art. Are those ideals worthy? You know that the drama originated in religious observances, in Greece, in connection with Bacchic ceremonies. Later there came the Roman drama, which was a direct outgrowth of the Greek system.

"And, still later, came the mystery or miracle plays which were enacted in churches many times which were a part of church services, and which gave rise to the English drama, the forerunner of the modern drama.

"Properly conceived, we can no more question the right of the drama to exist than we can question the right of any other institution. It is founded on the instinct in the heart of man, and for this reason it must exist. The devotee of religion would have every play preach some sort of sermon; the educator would have it didactic; the player, who gets to be blasé, would have it new and striking in theme as well as in execution. The average man asks that it be diverting, but he wants it to put no severe demands on his brain, he wants not too much preaching or teaching. In a large measure he is right.

"Dramatic art insists that life is its model, and that art is its goal. It is concerned with the model, the same as the painter or the sculptor—it wishes to create something which shall be enduring.

"We cannot insist upon a pleasant atmosphere for a play, or that it have agreeable characters; only that the portrayal shall be of the truth. One cannot study life without seeing that it is a struggle between good and evil. Analyze your own life and you will see that, a definite choosing between these two forces.

"A play must be a struggle—between the different characters in it, and these characters must have different moral standards.

"Some critics insist upon having the good always victorious. We must not invariably take that view of plays, however, for some of the most unpleasant plays have been positively helpful.

"Musical comedies, vaudeville and motion picture theatres are offering very much resistance to the progress of real dramatic art. In many of our musical comedies—which are capable of giving much real entertainment—there appear cheap buffoonery instead of clean comedy, and trashy airs instead of real music. There is, too, a tendency towards seriousness in the singing and dancing.

"And too often the variety theatres exploit persons of unsavory reputation, both men and women. I will refer to a woman who has of late been brought forward in Boston, not as a singer or as a dancer, but because of a connection with something which we shudder at. And, I have been told on reliable authority, many young girls looked upon her as a sort of heroine and enthusiastically attended as many performances in which she appeared as possible.

"Just a word about the motion pictures. Too often these are shown in places where it is not only dark but where there are advantages offered for many things. Children, grasping a few cents, make their way into them when they should be attending school, or when they should be in the open air. The censorship of these pictures is many times lax, and then there is the question of permanent injury being inflicted on the eyes of growing children.

"It is advisable for high minded people to take a more intelligent and active interest in the theatre. There are signs of degeneracy here and there. It is not impossible that the rivals of genuine art—buffoonery and gross obscenity may win out. The drama should be looked upon as a valuable ally of the church."

At Colonial Hall
An impressive sermon on "Beyond The Grave," was delivered at Colonial hall yesterday by Rev. A. E. Burgess, a New York city pastor. There was a large attendance and all listened with intense interest to the discourse.

The speaker in his introduction said there must be another place for atonement of sin after death and that as it states in the scripture, "every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that He is God," such an event must be elsewhere than on this earth for this widespread and universal bowing to the Divinity has yet to take place.

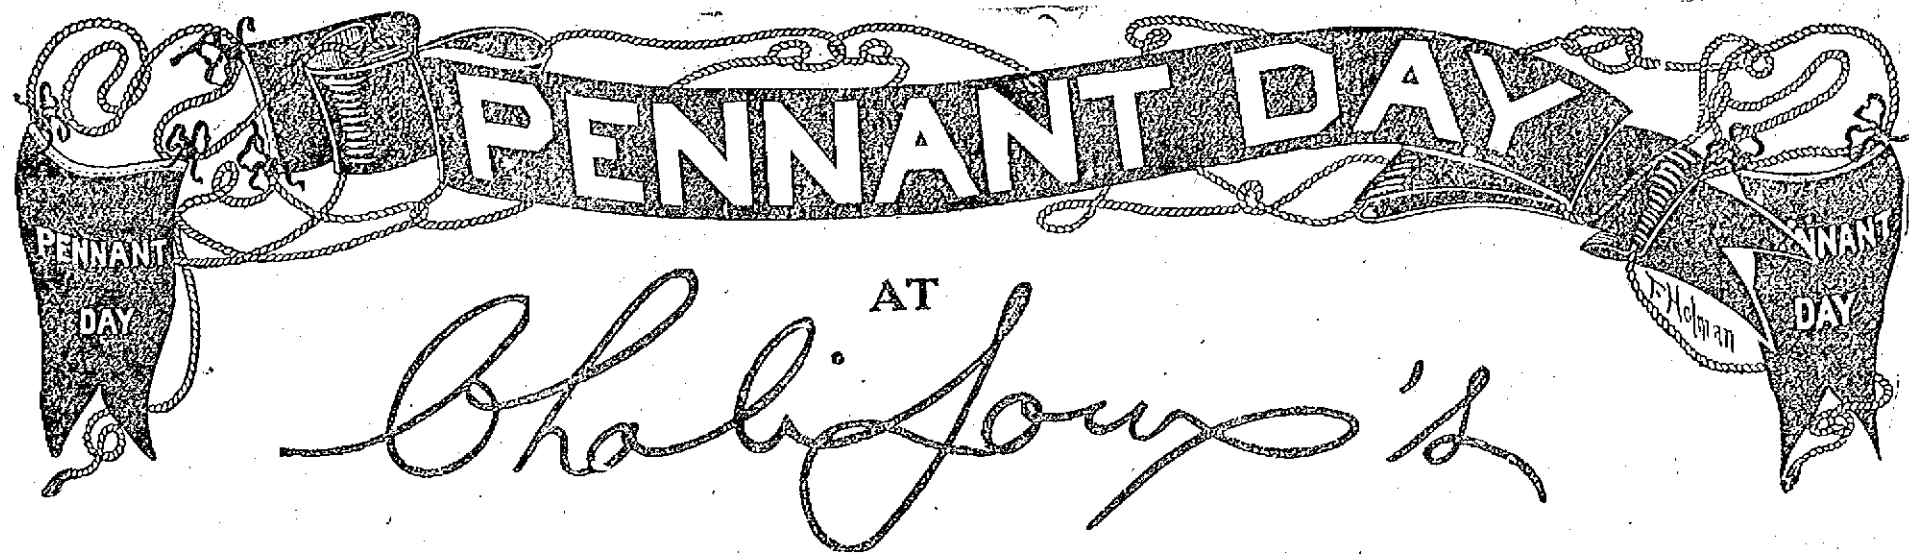

BILLERICA
The board of registrars of the town of Billerica held a meeting in the town hall Saturday night to recount the vote cast for representative at the recent state election. No changes were recorded, the result being: Kings, 144; Smith, 124; Williams, 222. The recount was held on the petition of Rep. Charles H. Williams, who lost out by 23 votes in the district.

On Tuesday, Rev. David J. Murphy, pastor of St. Andrew's church will begin to take the census of the Catholic population in the town of Billerica. Rev. Fr. Murphy plans to get closer in touch with the people throughout the town.

The parishioners of St. Andrew's church will hold a meeting in Matthew hall tonight to make plans for a church reunion to be held in the near future.

At St. Anne's mission yesterday, Rev. Samuel H. Jobe preached on the subject "The Life of the Church." Special music was furnished by the choir.

Rev. Charles Scofield, a former pastor at the North Billerica Baptist church, officiated at the morning service of the Baptist church yesterday.

Plans for today's session included clinics in 30 hospitals at which from 250 to 300 operations were to be performed by Chicago surgeons and a program of addresses tonight.

DR. AMEN DEAD

Was Principal of Phillips
Exeter Academy for
Many Years

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 10.—Harlan Page Amen, for many years principal of Phillips Exeter academy and an overseer of Harvard college, died here yesterday afternoon of apoplexy.

Out of respect for their dying "prexy," the students willingly refrained from the expected jubilant celebration of their football victory over the Phillips Andover eleven.

Collapsed at Phone
Saturday morning Mr. Amen was seized while in his study, and fell unconscious while in the act of telephoning for a physician. His family discovered him and medical aid was called.

Dr. Amen had a picturesque career and was one of the army of "poor boys who became famous" in the past decade. From abject poverty he rose to be one of the leading figures in the educational life of the country.

He leaves three daughters, Margaret R. Elizabeth W. and Rachel P., and a son, John Harlan Pearson, who is at present a member of the upper middle class at Phillips Exeter academy.

WEDS MAN OF 70

Miss Costa, Aged 28, to Marry Dr. W. H. Grain-
ger on Wednesday

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The friends of Dr. William H. Granger, of East Boston, who is about 70 years of age, and Miss Jessie Costa, 28 years old, a well known young woman in the Harbor View section of East Boston, will be surprised to learn that next Wednesday the couple will be married at the Star of the Sea church.

The ceremony will be performed at a nuptial mass by the Rev. William H. McDonough, the pastor, and only intimate friends and relatives will be present.

Dr. Granger lives at 49 Bartlett road, Winthrop, and has offices in East Boston. He is one of the oldest physicians in East Boston. He is regarded as one of the leading physicians in Greater Boston. No doctor in East Boston has a larger practice among the oldest families of the island.

He has five sons, some of whom are married. Among his sons is former Senator Edward J. Granger of Winthrop.

Dr. William Granger has been the Costa family physician for years. Miss Costa is a charming brunette. She smilingly admitted to a reporter last night that she to become Dr. Granger's bride on Wednesday morning. She lives with her mother at 107 Moore street.

She is the daughter of the late Capt. Manuel Costa. Capt. Costa was one of the veteran captains of the Provincetown fleet, and for nearly half a century sailed from that port and Boston. He engaged in fishing for the Boston market, where he had an immense business, which is now conducted by his sons.

Her father captured the schooner Jessie Costa, which was named for Miss Costa. This schooner was one of the fastest in the Boston fleet, and six years ago raced the Rose Dorothea for a cup which was given by Sir Thomas Lipton for a fisherman's race.

Captain Costa left much property, much of which was bequeathed to his daughter.

FALLS AT BRIDE'S FEET

MAN, THROWN FROM AUTO
LANDS IN PATH OF WOMAN—
PICKED UP—LATER MARRIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Driving his automobile along Jericho turnpike, near Hempstead, last Sunday, George Van Hoe, 22 years old, of 450 Barby street, Brooklyn, bumped into a ditch, landing at the feet of a young woman, who was walking at the side of the road.

"Don't be alarmed," Van Hoe reassured the young woman as she bent over him. "This is my usual method of getting out of my car."

Van Hoe jumped into the automobile, accompanied by the young woman, and drove to a nearby house, where she was spending the day with relatives. After a few cuts and bruises had been dressed, Van Hoe learned that the young woman's name was Miss Loretta Merklein of 607 Linwood street, Brooklyn. Now she is Mrs. George Van Hoe.

ASKED TO BE ARRESTED

MAN'S REQUEST DENIED, HE
A WINDOW

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—If a polite request will not secure a man a night's lodging in a police station there are other methods of getting it. William Carnes adopted one of them last night. Carnes walked into the Roxbury Crossing police station and asked to be arrested.

"What for?" asked the lieutenant. "For reasons of my own," answered Carnes.

The lieutenant considered the explanation inadequate and refused to take the man into custody. Carnes walked out, smashed a window in a nearby store and was promptly arrested and taken back to the station. This time he was allowed to remain.

HELD IN $1000 CARS

New York Chauffeur is Held on Charge of Manslaughter

SOMERVILLE, Nov. 10.—A plea of not guilty of manslaughter was entered in the district court today by Frederick A. Copeman of New York, chauffeur for William A. Simonson, a Wall street banker, whose car ran over and killed an unknown man here yesterday. Copeman furnished $1000 bail for a hearing November 17.

NOVEMBER CROP REPORTS

WILL BE SUPPLIED TO NEWSPAPERS
THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY BY DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—As a result of requests from editors and editorial associations in many states, the U. S. department of agriculture has announced that the November crop reports for each state will be supplied to the newspapers in all states through the central weather station located in each of the states.

This is an extension of the experiment of telegraphing the state crop returns to the central weather stations in each of nine states, and having these telegrams duplicated at once and mailed to the newspapers and agricultural publications. Under this plan newspapers in 30 additional states will now receive full details of the state crops far more quickly than would be possible if these state crop details were put in the mails in Washington and had to travel by train long distances to the more remote states.

Under this plan the general summary of the crops for the United States will, as heretofore, be issued in Washington for telegraphic distribution. It has been found, however, that the conditions of crops within their particular states are of especial value to the farmers and producers, to whom the conditions in their own state are important in the marketing of their products.

Under this plan the department sends one telegram to the central weather bureau in each state, and within a few minutes after the crop figures for the state are completed in Washington the weather bureau is enabled to mail copies of the figures from a central point within the state to all papers in that state.

Under the code system used the department is under the necessity of telegraphing only a few figures, as the figures of previous crops for comparison are supplied to each weather bureau station by mail. The cost of the telegram for each state does not exceed 75 cents.

The crop data thus circulated by mail to the newspapers will give: (a) a full list of the crops; (b) the average condition of each crop for ten-year periods in that particular state; (c) the condition of the state crops for Nov. 5th. In the adjoining column will be given the same data for the United States, so that the farmers who read these notices can compare the crops in their state as of Nov. 5th with the ten-year averages of their own state, and in the same way with the average condition throughout the United States for Nov. 5th and for ten years.

These state crop reports are not supplied to individuals, and are mailed only to editors of regular publications. The November state crop reports for the 30 states newly added to the list will be sent only to the daily papers, the country seat papers, and agricultural publications. Meanwhile, the department is preparing lists of small town weeklies, and in December the crop reports will be sent also to the smaller papers.

Passengers Injured

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 10.—Three passengers were seriously injured and 11 others more or less shaken and bruised in a rear-end collision of electric cars on the Buttonwood road, at Cole's station, about 10 miles from this city, last evening.

A large car bound to this city crashed through the fog into the rear of a car which had stopped at the station. The accident was caused by the thick fog and slippery rails. Most of the injured were able to proceed to their homes after treatment and rest.

3 DEAD IN STORM

Big Tree Blown Across
Track Wrecks Train at
Utica, New York

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Three of the train crew were killed last evening when a locomotive pulling a work train on the Raquette Lake railroad ran into a tree which had been blown across the tracks by a severe storm that swept this part of the state late yesterday. The locomotive and tender broke loose from the train and plunged down an embankment.

The engineer, Benjamin Hall; his fireman, John Case, and the brakeman, A. G. Lashaway, were killed almost instantly. They all resided at Raquette Lake.

The storm did extensive damage in the Adirondacks.

SNOW IN PITTSBURGH
PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—Crippling transportation facilities and prostrating weather communicated over a wide area, an extraordinary snow, sleet and wind storm visited this section of the country yesterday and continued last night.

During the day 10 inches of snow fell, four inches more than ever fell during any November since 1856. The barometer registered 29.06, or about one inch below normal, and this incident of the storm is viewed as remarkable by the local officials of the United States weather bureau. Throughout the day a wind from the northwest blew 40 miles an hour, while the temperature dropped from 45 to 22 degrees in less than 10 hours.

SHORE LINE TIED UP
SOUTH LYME, Conn., Nov. 10.—During a heavy wind and rain storm yesterday afternoon, 20 telephone poles between here and Crescent Beach were blown down on the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, blocking traffic for nearly an hour.

KILLED WOMAN
LINE ROCK, Conn., Nov. 10.—Constables and deputy sheriffs are searching the woods in this vicinity for Andrew Burt, who is alleged to have shot and instantly killed Mrs. John Corroli during a quarrel in her home here last night.

According to the authorities Burt aimed a shotgun at Corroli, but his aim was poor and the charge of shot struck his wife in the head. Although closely pursued Burt made his escape.

TEST LIQUORCASE

Portland Elks to Fight
Seizure in Courts—
Many Interested

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 10.—Sheriff King F. Graham made a liquor raid at the home of the Elks on Free street Saturday evening and found in the lockers 1292 bottles of beer, 100 bottles of ale, 54 quarts of wine, 93 of whisky, one of rum, 52 of gin, two of brandy and five of vermouth. It has made a great sensation. It will be made a test case.

It is not claimed that liquor was sold at the Elks' headquarters or that the Elks as an organization had any interest in the liquor found, but the question to be submitted to Judge John P. A. Merrill will be whether individual members may legally keep liquors for their own use in their lockers, each man having exclusive control of his locker with his own key.

It is not claimed that the steward of the place, Howard Ferris, was directly or indirectly interested in the contents of a single locker.

The case promises to assume state-wide importance, as there are many organizations in the state understood to have had for many years the same system of individual lockers and private stocks of liquor. If the decision of Judge Merrill is adverse to the Portland lodge it will mean the immediate closing of many other locker rooms.

The officers and members of the Portland lodge of Elks declare their belief that they were not violating in any way the letter or spirit of the prohibitory law in maintaining a locker room, with compartments for individual members. No secret was made of the fact and even the fact that Sheriff Scully did not attempt to make trouble for them or similar bodies.

It has become a serious matter to the thirsty or the sociably inclined to secure liquor, even for private use. It has not been safe for some time to place an order for liquor to be delivered here by express, as hundreds of such consignments have been seized, some returned and others confiscated, and ordered to be spilled.

Sheriff Graham has turned his civil business over to his chief civil deputy and is devoting his entire time to the suppression of the liquor traffic.

U. S. TROOPS WITHDRAWN
MANILA, Nov. 10.—Governor General Harrison will leave here today for Madrid, accompanied by Major General J. Franklin Bell, commander of the Philippines department. It is generally expected that the result of this journey will be the appointment of a civil governor. The American troops have been withdrawn from that territory already.

The Philippines commission is holding its sessions without the presence of any American member and many vacancies in the government service are to remain unfilled until the governor general's return.

70 Walk Out Because Superintendent Was Displaced

SOUTH BERRICK, Me., Nov. 10.—A strike because Henry C. Knight had been replaced by another as principal of their school was inaugurated today by the 70 pupils of the local grammar school. They paraded the street in front of the school building and declared they would remain from their studies until Mr. Knight had been reinstated. The matter will be considered by the school board tomorrow afternoon. Mr. Knight's resignation was given on Friday in response to a request from Frederick W. Freeman, formerly of Bath and Westbrook, who became superintendent in September, it being claimed his work was not satisfactory.

THE THAW CASE

Motion to Dismiss the Habeas Corpus Proceedings Filed

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 10.—The state of New York, by Bernard K. Jacobs, its New Hampshire representative, has filed in the office of the clerk of the United States district court in this city a motion to dismiss the habeas corpus proceeding in the case of Harry K. Thaw. The motion is not accompanied by any reason therefor. It is probable that a preliminary hearing will be held in this city the first of next week at which arrangements will be made for taking up the whole matter including the amendment to Thaw's petition in regular order some ten days later. Judge William A. Stone has arrived here from Harrisburg, Pa., to take charge of the proceedings in the federal courts in Thaw's behalf.

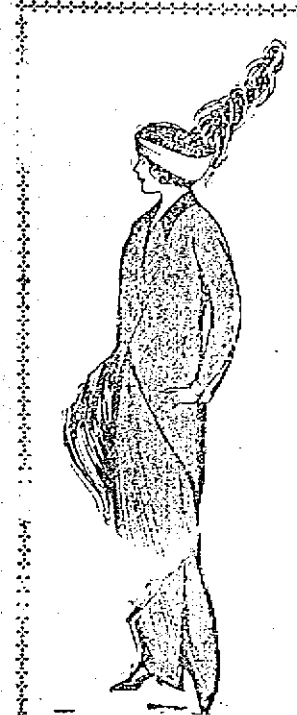

STUDENTS HURRY TO HISTORIES

WALESKA, Ga., Nov. 10.—With the band playing "Dixie" the students of Reinhardt college, numbering nearly 400, gathered on the campus and made a bout of every copy of history of the United States which had been prescribed in the curriculum. The book was prepared by a northern historian and the students allege that the writer is unfair to the south and unduly partial to the north, especially in dealing with the Civil war.

In the history Harriet Beecher Stowe is praised and Jefferson Davis is declared to have been a man of small mental calibre and also a traitor. The character of some of the leading southern generals also is attacked. It is alleged that there are even insinuations against Gen. Robert E. Lee. Reinhardt college is under the auspices of the Southern Methodist church. It is educational and is the largest educational institution in north Georgia.

MILITARY TRAINING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Secretary Garrison has discovered that the agricultural colleges established under the Morrill act of 1862 have not been living up to the law which requires them to include military training in their curriculums in return for aid from the public treasury. It is probable Mr. Garrison will make important recommendations on this subject to congress next month in an effort to obtain a greater return to the government for the money it spends. Secretary Garrison believes these colleges should become training schools for young officers for appointment in a volunteer army in time of war.

FIRE PREVENTION

subject in a manner which is very instructive. Mr. Wentworth has delivered his talk on "Prevention of Fire" before the Chicago board of trade, the St. Paul chamber of commerce, and he occupies a position in the forefront of men interested in insurance and fire prevention. The meeting will take on the form of a smoker and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

In the Schools

This forenoon and this afternoon the pupils in the public and parochial schools of this city listened to interesting remarks on fire prevention, some of the members of the fire department having been assigned to the various schools. The children were given interesting advice on the fatal result in many instances of playing with matches. They were also warned not to set fires in fields or back yards and were told of cases where children were burned to death through this dangerous amusement.

The women also told of the consequences of ringing a false alarm, where accidents have often occurred, and they apprised the little ones of the penalty for such an offense. The men assigned and the schools they went to were as follows: J. Jantzen, Engine 1, Butler, Edison and Sacred Heart; A. E. Present, Engine 2, Franklin; J. C. O'Neil, Engine 3, Green; Capt. J. E. Burns, Engine 4, Moody and Immaculate Conception; Capt. J. F. McKinnon, Engine 5, Columbia and St. Patrick's; Capt. J. Baxter, Engine 6, Lincoln and Washington; J. McMahon, Engine 7, Pawtucket; Capt. H. E. Merrill, Engine 8, Greenhalge; W. J. Heelan, Truck 1, Riverside; W. S. Holt, Truck 2, Highland; Capt. Joseph D'Amour, Truck 3, St. Louis and Notre Dame de Lourdes; W. J. Landry, Hose 8, St. Joseph's church.

"TEDDY" TO THE RESCUE

COL. ROOSEVELT, WITH AID OF WIFE, SAVED TWO ACTRESSES FROM BRAZILIAN RESORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Through the presence of Col. Theodore Roosevelt on board the steamship Vanduyck, which sailed from here for South America on October 4, two young American actresses who returned to this country Saturday on the steamship Vestris were saved from a humiliating experience in Rio de Janeiro, which might have developed into one so serious as to contain an element of white slavery.

Gladys Waddell, 17 years old, who two seasons ago played in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" in the Republic Theatre, and Joan Shore, 19 years old, her partner in a vaudeville act, were the young women.

They had signed a contract through a local theatrical agent to appear in what they supposed was a vaudeville theatre in Rio de Janeiro.

On their way to Rio de Janeiro on the Vanduyck they attracted the attention of Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt when they sang at one of the concerts on board ship.

William Mackenzie, the manager of the light and power company in Rio de Janeiro and a former American, told Col. Roosevelt the place designated by the two young actresses was not a vaudeville theatre, but a music hall of the cheap variety, where the women who appeared were compelled to serve drinks to men customers and sit drinking with them.

Col. Roosevelt consulted Capt. Cadogan of the Vanduyck and the situation was delicately explained to the girls by Mrs. Roosevelt. Plans were made immediately by the Colonel and Capt. Cadogan to prevent the landing of the young actresses, who were thoroughly frightened and willingly placed themselves under Col. Roosevelt's protection.

They were transferred to a New York bound boat and arrived here Saturday.

TERRIFIC STORM

In over three wires in place of the 36 which normally connect it with New York. There was only one wire between New York and Pittsburgh. Western Union officials said the trouble was principally due to the blowing down of poles.

SNOW IN BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The wintry gale that has gripped the midwest for 24 hours arrived here early today and the city awoke to face a 70 mile gale that drove before it clouds of fine snow and sleet. Trains from the west coast to the east coast and the city awoke to face a 70 mile gale that drove before it clouds of fine snow and sleet. FOOT OF SNOW IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 10.—Still in the grasp of the storm that for 24 hours has almost entirely cut off the outside world, Pittsburghers today are snowed out of their homes almost a foot of snow while every effort is being made to repair the damage and restore lines of communication and transportation. All suburban communities are cut off from telephone communication and this crippled condition extends throughout West Virginia down the Ohio valley morning after morning.

Plunged Into Snowdrift

A Pennsylvania train, which left Harrisburg, Pa., for this city at 6:40 o'clock this morning, plunged into a snowdrift and stuck two miles north of Martins Ferry, O. Relief has been promised. The train was marooned.

BUZZARD IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—Covered with snow ranging in depth from 20 inches at points along Lake Erie to eight inches in the Ohio river section, the blizzard which set in early yesterday, continued with slight abatement during the night. Transportation facilities in all parts of the state were crippled and in many instances failed completely. Cleveland continued today to be practically cut off from the outside world on all telegraph and traction facilities were concerned.

WIRELESS OUT OF COMMISSION

DETROIT, Nov. 10. The storm that swept Michigan and the Great Lakes all yesterday and last night subsided to a degree this forenoon and the weather bureau officials said that a further decrease in wind velocity could be expected before night. Up to this forenoon no serious accidents to lake shipping had been reported but on shore telegraph and telephone companies suffered greatly. Reports from Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Sault Ste. Marie and Peninsula, Bay City and Port Huron indicated that the gale was the most severe November blow in many years and every port was crowded with steamers that had hurried into shelter.

LOWELL MAN INJURED

James J. Gallagher of this city received a telephone call from Tilton, N. H., yesterday informing him that a man by the name of Gallagher had received a severe fracture of the skull there last Friday. The man gave his home as Lowell. He was described as five feet seven inches in height, about 160 pounds in weight and has a silver plate in his skull where he was previously injured. Relatives are requested to communicate with the selectmen of Tilton.

SCHOOL BOARD CRITICISED

Manager Teeling of Lynn Objects to Permission Given Y. M. C. A. to Visit Grammar Schools

LYNN, Nov. 10.—On the assumption that the Lynn school board took unwarranted action in granting a representative of the boys' department of the Lynn Young Men's Christian association permission to visit the public grammar schools and address the boys on the advantages of membership in the association, Mr. Rev. Arthur J. Teeling, pastor of St. Mary's church, today severely criticised the school board.

Mr. Teeling said he knew of no law which gave the school board authority to aid an effort to obtain membership of grammar school boys in the association, and he assailed the committee for connection with the matter, which has no relation to the management of the public schools. He said that the committee deserved censure and that he wished to impart to his parishioners his attitude upon the subject.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE OPERA HOUSE

A banner program of all feature pictures is announced for the opera house today, containing all the latest releases of the leading film producers. The list will be the Warner Brothers' "The Fighting 69th", the Shubert adapted from Shakespeare's delightful farce and presented in motion pictures by a celebrated company of stars, headed by the well known English actor, Cyril Maude. Every one is familiar with Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and the comedy of stars, headed by the well known English actor, Cyril Maude. Every one is familiar with Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and the comedy of stars, headed by the well known English actor, Cyril Maude.

Among the other features will be seen "The Depth of Hate," a two reel path drama; "The Man in the Hamper," a comedy of the week; and "The Van Neustran Drama," said to be one of the best dramatic stories that has ever been released by the Biograph company.

MERIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Belle of Richmond," one of the highest type of melodramas, that the modern stage has ever known, will be presented this afternoon. Miss Grace Young, whose efforts of the past week made her one of the most popular actresses the local stage has ever known, will appear in the Hamper drama, "The Van Neustran Drama," said to be one of the best dramatic stories that has ever been released by the Biograph company.

B. F. Keith's Theatre

The most astounding animal act ever placed on any stage will be the feature at the B. F. Keith theatre this evening. It will consist of Prince Emil and his eight polar bears, which have come out of the regions of the north and which have been trained from the time they were mere cubs. There is a fine battle with their mother from Africa, with several of the most dangerous quadrupeds shown on stages, but bona fide polar bears have never been shown to the public except in circuses.

The story of Prince Emil capturing polar bears, about seven years ago, reads like a chapter out of a Mayan romance. Prince Emil, who was born and educated in the north, came into the wilds of Siberia about ten years ago, on a big game hunt. He landed in the far eastern province of Russia, a few miles north of Kamchatka, and, incidentally, ran onto a few specimens of the polar bear. He was informed that on Wrangell island, in the Arctic ocean, about 60 miles from the mainland, were hundreds of these bears. Prince Emil, with friends, went to the barren island and succeeded in capturing four cubs, after a fierce battle with their mother.

TIE PLAYHOUSE

At the head of the vaudeville program at the Playhouse this week is jolly Fanny Hatfield and company in a playlet entitled "A Manager's Troubles," an old-fashioned story of interest particularly because of the fact that Miss Hatfield two years ago made many friends in Lowell by her work at the Academy of Music, in an engagement covering 20 weeks.

KILLED BY AUTO

New York Banker's Machine Hits Somerville Man—Driver Held

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Charles Nickerson, 40 years of age of 41 Florence street, Somerville, was struck by an automobile owned by William A. Simonson, a banker at 55 Wall street, New York, on Broadway, opposite Lincoln street, East Somerville, about 10:15 yesterday morning, dying on the way to the Somerville hospital.

Frederick A. Copman, 40, the chauffeur of the machine, residing at 451 West 159th street, New York, is locked up at the Somerville police station on a charge of manslaughter. No attempt was made to get bail for Copman. Simonson, his wife and daughter, who were in the machine at the time, took the 3 o'clock train from the South station for New York.

There were no visible marks on the body of the dead man, but an autopsy performed by Medical Examiner Thos. M. Durill disclosed a fractured skull. The scene of the accident is known as "Dead Man's Crossing," no less than six fatal accidents having occurred there within as many years.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

"TRI-PARTITE SALOONS"

PROPOSED BY J. F. CHASE TO COMBAT THE EVILS OF THE IMMORAL CAFE

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—To combat the evils of the immoral cafe, J. F. Chase, secretary of the New England Watch and Ward society of Boston addressing the international purity congress here today proposed the establishment of "Tri-partite saloons," one part for women, one for men, and one for couples.

"The rule must be inflexible so far as the couples parties concerned, the withdrawal of either party means the withdrawal of both, for no unaccompanied woman can remain in the couple's ward," he said.

LAURENCE IN PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—"Became a Philippine lumber king" in the burden of an invitation extended today by the bureau of insular affairs of the war department. The government has 25,000 acres of timber containing approximately two billion board feet of lumber which it is anxious to have cut down and marketed. It is willing to grant a 50-year concession to bring about this result.

The prospectus points out that China and Japan afford markets for virtually all the lumber produced. The successful bidder for the concession must have funds sufficient, not less than $50,000, with which to begin work at once. The bids are to be opened in Manila Dec. 10.

Athletes and Athletics

Well, we've got some high school football team all right here in Lowell. The brand of football which the local high school played against Nashua high Saturday is not to be despised by any championship aggregation. If the team continues to improve in the next fortnight as fast as it has in the past two weeks, the Haverhill and Lawrence games will not look so dubious.

Speaking of "come backs" there is a rumor around town that Jimmy Sullivan and Danny Nolan, the old time sprinters, have agreed to run each other within a short time. Although well past the athletic age, each thinks that he is better preserved than the other and hence the race. The distance will be 100 yards and a host of their mutual friends will be on hand to witness the pair in their "come-back" stunt.

Brunelle certainly played a great game for the high school team Saturday. This boy is better with each succeeding game and barring accidents, should be placed upon the interschool team this season. He has a gridiron future before him if he enters college after his high school career.

Eddie Cawley is bucking the line for Colby and doing it well from all accounts. Cawley is far above the average player of the smaller college eleven. "Heinie" Bailey is also playing in the Colby backfield.

The Pony football team is desirous of playing any team in the city for a substantial side bet, they inform us. Also a basketball challenge is being broadcast with the same conditions attached. Tom Connor is the boy who manages the Ponies and further details can be gleaned by seeing him at 149 Salem street.

Frank Gotch is mighty liable to creep out of his street clothes and don his wrestling tux once more. If these heavyweight grapplers from across the water keep up their chatter about being world's champions, it is rather a horrifying thought to entertain as to what these foreign strong men would do to little Frankie if he did not hide from them. There would be much less talk as to their respective wrestling ability if Gotch came out with an announcement that he was open to the world. They haven't forgotten about an individual named Hackenschmidt and what occurred when he aspired to the world's wrestling title.

Charlie Brickley lived up to his reputation Saturday in the Harvard-Princeton game and brought home the bacon. This is the chap whom divers persons will endeavor to convince you quit in the Andover-Exeter game he took part in. Let them call him a quitter and amuse themselves, but a man who demonstrates through three years of college football that he is always ready when needed is good enough for us.

The Harvard line was a big disappointment to the coaches. The linemen seemed to cave in under the fierce Princeton attack and crumpled up on several occasions. Harvard will have to show more power than she did Saturday if she expects to pile up a big score on Yale.

That will doubtless be some tangle over in New York tonight. Willie Hichis and Leon Cross should draw a record house. (The Cross hit him?) is the question which arises when this bout is discussed. In a slugging bee the lightweight championship would change hands, but the champion is too clever for the Harvard dentist. If the contest is even tonight a 20-round affair in California will probably be the result.

Dartmouth looms up big as a candidate for premier football honors. There is always talk of the Princeton team not trying as hard against the Green team as against Harvard, but no one who ever saw a Princeton-Dartmouth game would fall into this error. The Harvard-Yale and Princeton-Yale games will have a big bearing on the championship.

HARVARD WON
As reported in Saturday's 7 o'clock edition of The Sun, Harvard defeated Princeton at football by the score of 3 to 0. The game was played at Princeton, N. J., and attracted a large crowd, despite the inclement weather. The only score resulted from a field goal by Brickley.

Lowell high easily proved itself master of Nashua High on the gridiron Saturday and romped away with the game by the score of 28 to 0. Lowell was in scoring position shortly after the kick-off and played hard football throughout. Although beaten by a large score Nashua displayed a brand of football which surprised the large crowd who attended the contest and threatened to become dangerous at several stages of the game.

The local team used the open game for the most part, shift plays and forward passes composing the greater part of their attack upon the visiting eleven. Nashua also resorted to the use of the forward pass and the Lowell secondary defence showed themselves lamentably weak on several occasions by failing to analyze Nashua's fake end run and pass to the short side.

Dan Brunelle was the individual star of the contest, although Lowell had reason to be proud of her entire team. Brunelle was in every play on the defense and his tackling was certain and deadly. On the offense he skirted ends, shot through the Nashua line and picked holes like an All-American selection. The all around performance of this player were the classiest that has been seen at Spaulding park this season. Brunelle was acting in the absence of Capt. Jake Cullen.

Bowers also played a spectacular game in the Lowell backfield and the work of Bennett and Snyder added in the final score. Bowers side-stepped and twisted to good advantage on more than one occasion while the work of the other two members of the Lowell backfield was steady and consistent.

A large number of Nashua rooters came down with the teams expecting to see their team pull out a victory. Nashua high has played the majority of the big high school teams and has earned a big reputation this season. In the eyes of many of the spectators Lowell high has a team which can compare favorably with those eleven who claim the state championship.

First Period
The visitors won the flip of the coin and chose to receive with the wind at their back. Cahill kicked to Wise on the 15-yard line. Wise carried the ball to the 26-yard line. Pratt fumbled and Nashua had 15 yards to make on second down. Nashua kicked to midfield.

Bennett made two yards through right tackle. Brunelle breezed through for three more. Cahill then kicked to the 55-yard line. Desmond was on the job and nailed Pratt in his tracks. Brunelle recovered the ball for Lowell on the first play when Moran attempted a line buck and dropped the ball. Bowers took the pigskin.

Second Period
The visitors took the ball right along toward Lowell's goal line after the minute's intermission. Moran smashed through the local rush line for first down. Moran again tried the line and was stopped by a hard tackle by Mochrie. Another line smash failed and then a forward pass, Barker to D Pratt, advanced the ball 12 yards. Nashua looked decidedly dangerous at this point but a fumble by A Pratt which McManmon recovered gave Lowell possession of the leather. Cahill promptly kicked to midfield and Roane made a swell tackle after Littlefield had advanced three yards. After two line plunges Nashua punted and Snyder was nailed on his own 20 yard line. Cahill kicked to the 35 yard line and Littlefield was downed in his tracks by the Lowell ends. Nashua tried a couple of line shifts which failed to bender the Lowell rush line. Brunelle then intercepted an attempted forward pass.

Third Period
The third period completed the discouragement of the visitors. Cahill kicked to the 15 yard line and the ball was run back five yards. After two attempts at the line Nashua kicked to the 45 yard line.

On the first play Brunelle tore through right tackle and shook off all the Nashua tacklers. The Lowell backfield by fast running and clever dodging, managed to reach Lowell's third touchdown. Bowers kicked his third goal.

Lowell again backed to Nashua, and the runner was thrown on his 20 yard chalk mark. Brunelle once more took the spotlight by intercepting a forward pass. Brunelle was forced out of bounds on the Nashua 10 yard line. Two line plunges by Brunelle and Bowers and a quarter back run by Snyder landed the fourth and last touchdown. Bowers made the score 28 to 0 by kicking his fourth goal.

The ball sawawed back and forth over the centre of the field. It looked like another touchdown for a few minutes toward the end of the period but Littlefield grabbed off an attempted forward pass. Play ended with the ball in the visitors' possession on their own 20 yard line.

two yards through left tackle. Brunelle smashed centre for five more. Snyder made three when he followed Corbett's broad back and Brunelle reeled off first down for the locals. Bennett failed to gain. Brunelle tore through the right side of the line on a skin tackle play and placed the ball behind the Nashua goal posts for the first score of the game. Bowers kicked the goal.

Cahill again kicked off and the Nashua captain, Littlefield, carried the ball from his ten yard line to his 20-yard mark. Snyder recovered the ball for Lowell on a blocked on-side kick and the march for the second touchdown began. Bennett ripped off five through center.

Brunelle nearly made first down on a tackle plunge. Lowell was set back five yards for starting ahead of the ball. Brunelle skirted Nashua's left end for the second touchdown, shaking off several tacklers before he landed the ball behind the goal posts. Bowers kicked an easy goal.

Cahill once more boosted to the visitors. On straight line plays Nashua brought the ball down the field until Lowell's 42 yard line had been reached. Here the period ended.

Fourth Period
The fourth period was the least sensational of any. The Nashua players appeared to be tired and subs were filling the regular places for Lowell. Nashua threatened the Lowell goal more vigorously in this period than in any of the others, getting the ball down to the two yard line with two plays to put it over. Poor judgment and a stiffening in the Lowell line threw them back and the danger was over. From that time on it was all Lowell, and the Nashua eleven was on the defensive. The contest ended with the ball in Nashua's possession on their own 45 yard line. The lineup and summary:

BUNTINGS WIN

South Lawrence Beaten at Soccer in a Close Game

The Buntings won their game from the South Lawrence soccer team Saturday by the score of 3 to 2 on the grounds of the local club. The score is indicative of the closeness of the game but hardly tells the story of one of the hardest fought soccer matches ever played off at the South Lowell grounds.

From the first sound of the referee's whistle it was one grand battle and the spectators were kept on their toes during the entire contest. The visitors, scored first shortly after play was called. The Bunting team took the field with only ten men and the first goal was scored before the full Bunting strength had taken the field.

Clegg came back within a very few minutes and stamped the ball between the Lawrence goal posts for the first Bunting score. After several minutes of hard scrimmaging in mid-field the ball bounded away toward the visitors' goal again and the Buntings were placed in the lead when Clegg made a great goal from a difficult angle.

The Lawrence team tied up the score before the first half was called. Play by this time had become a trifle "forceful" to say the least. The referee issued a warning to some of the players several times before the whistle blew for the end of the period.

The Lowell team got the jump on their opponents at the start of the second half. The ball was rapidly worked down the field and Mitchell scored for the Buntings. Just about this time the rough-house tactics of two players was summarily stopped by the action of the referee who put them off the field. Not satisfied with this the visiting team kept right on in their strenuous playing and as a result a third member of the South Lawrence team was expelled from the game. The contest ended without South Lawrence becoming dangerous although they had several chances to score long shots. These lineup and summary:

ACQUITTED OF "RITUAL MURDER"

TERRIFIC STORM SWEEPS COUNTRY

Wind, Rain and Snow Cause Havoc — Traffic Tied up — Wires Down and Buildings Wrecked

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Boston and New England were basking at noon today in warm zephyrs and much sunshine, while the middle states shivered in a blizzard. The weather bureau, however, announced that more storm conditions might be expected here by nightfall. Off shore gales were signalled from all stations on the coast from Block Island to Eastport and only full-powered vessels ventured outside.

WESTERN TRAINS LATE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Nearly all trains from the west were from one to seven hours late in reaching New York today. The Twentieth Century Limited due at New York at 10 a. m. was posted to arrive between 3.40 and 4 p. m. Other New York Central trains were not as seriously delayed.

The Erie train from Buffalo and Cleveland due at 8.15 pulled in at 9.05. The slow time generally was credited to interrupted wire service due to the storm.

Telegraph and telephone companies reported today that the centre of wire demoralization was in and about Cleveland.

Communication with that city was practically cut off this morning and there were no wires working west of Buffalo. Messages for Chicago were sent via Atlantic, Memphis and St. Louis.

SUPERIOR COURT SESSION

Case of Dalton vs. Vlahos Opened This Morning — Damages of $15,000 Claimed

The trial of the cases of Thomas and Mary Dalton vs. John Vlahos was opened at superior court this morning. This case is one in which one of the plaintiffs, Mary Dalton, seeks to recover for damages alleged to have been sustained from falling through a veranda on the property of the defendant. Mrs. Dalton sues for $10,000 for personal injuries, while her husband, Thos. Dalton, seeks to recover for expenses incurred on account of the injury to the amount of $5000.

Mrs. Mary Dalton was the first witness called to the stand and she stated that on July 25, 1910, she hired a tenement on Suffolk street from the defendant. There was a veranda located on the second story of the building which was to be used by the Daltons and another tenant. The witness said that while hanging out clothes on July 25, 1910, she fell through the floor of the veranda and seriously injured her leg and back, making it necessary for her to remain in bed for a long time.

Mrs. Annie Welsh, who at the time of the alleged accident lived at 136 Suffolk street, testified that she saw Mrs. Dalton fall through the veranda and also helped care for her after the accident. She said that Mrs. Dalton was unconscious for some time after the fall.

Mr. Thomas Dalton, husband of Mary Dalton and one of the plaintiffs, explained to the jury the location of the veranda and the clothing. On returning from work about 6 o'clock on the evening of the accident he found his wife lying on the couch in a very weak condition. She was delirious for nearly a year and was cared for by her daughter.

When questioned by the defendant's attorney, he stated that he was employed by the railroad and the house was cared for by his wife. A few days after Mr. Vlahos bought the property they talked together relative to several improvements that were to be made.

Mrs. Mary Dalton, daughter of the plaintiffs, was called and stated that on arriving home a few hours after the accident she found her mother with a badly bruised leg and also noticed the hole in the piazza.

John F. Harrigan, a carpenter who repaired the platform on the property, stated that he found the timbers partly decayed and some of the boards misplaced.

BEILISS NOT GUILTY

Was Charged With the Murder of Andrew Yushinsky, a Christian Boy, in March 1911

KIEV, Russia, Nov. 10.—Mendel Beiliss was acquitted by the jury today on the charge of murdering the boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March 1911.

Troops Guard Courthouse

The trial of Mendel Beiliss, a Russian of the Hebrew faith, for murder for the alleged purpose of "blood ritual" of Andrew Yushinsky, a Christian lad, began on Oct. 15th. The mutilated body of the boy was found on March 25, 1911, in a cave near Kiev. The hands were bound behind the back and there were 47 wounds on the body. Beiliss was shortly afterward arrested and charged with the murder. During the hearing many medical experts testified, their opinions varying as to the reasons for the crime. Other witnesses threw suspicion on a woman, Vera Tcheberiak, alleged to be the harbinger of a band of criminals.

Extensive precautions were taken by the authorities to prevent threatened outrages by members of a society of anti-semitic Russians known as the Black Hundred, the vicinity of the court being surrounded by hundreds of troops during the latter days of the trial.

"BILL" HAYWOOD BEARS UNRULY BURIED IN SNOW

Supreme Court Sets Aside Conviction of I.W.W. Leader

Two Grizzlies Tried to Break Away at Keith's Theatre Today

Mangled Bodies of Two Men Were Found at Peru, Indiana

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 10.—The state supreme court here today set aside the conviction of William Haywood, who with two others connected with the Industrial Workers of the World was convicted on a charge of being disorderly persons in connection with the recent strike of the Paterson silk workers.

The others involved are Carlo Tresca and Adolph Lessig. The men were sentenced to six months in jail.

The opinion of the supreme court in a decision read by Justice Bergen, holds that the mere fact that a person walking along the public streets in a peaceable and quiet manner is followed by a crowd of people is not sufficient to justify his conviction of being a disorderly person upon the ground that he obstructed and interfered with other persons lawfully upon the streets.

There was a wild scramble among those present for a place of safety and the highest points were at once in great demand. When the bear made his first effort to escape from his cage three of the stage hands went over backwards into the orchestra pit from the stage while their more fortunate companions cleared footlights and furniture and made for the high spots. The trouble arose in transferring the animals to the cage in which they will appear as a feature of the show.

Electrician Arthur Eckland and Edward F. Riley performed a pole climbing stunt on two of the pillars on the floor of the theatre and "shinned" enthusiastically until they considered themselves well out of danger from Sir Bruin should he succeed in breaking loose. Several others took up equally advantageous resting places.

The bear was finally subdued and persuaded that the cage was the best place for him.

THE PARK DEPT. WELL KNOWN WOMAN

Supt. Kernan Visits the Harvard Arboretum—Sports at Shedd Park

John W. Kernan, superintendent of parks, visited the Harvard arboretum, Saturday, in company with park superintendents from various cities throughout the state. The superintendents were the guests of the park commission of Boston, and Mr. Kernan says the trip was both profitable and entertaining.

Men from the park department are working at Shedd park making ready for the winter sports. The pond is being put in shape for the winter's skating and the hydrants are being repaired.

Other men from the park department are employed at Pawtucketville square removing dead and dangerous branches from trees and another gang is covering flower beds at Fort Hill to protect them from the winter winds and storms.

The following bids on four 16-inch, four 12-inch and six 8-inch hub and water gates, were opened at the office of Purchasing Agent Foye this forenoon: Ludlow Valve Co., $119; Coffin Valve Co., $382.50; Kennedy Valve Co., $410; R. D. Wood Co., $430; Chapman Valve Co., $112; Eddy Valve works, $130; Carroll Bros., crane valve, $426.67; Rensselaer Valve Co., $165.60; Darling Pump Co., $160; Pratt & Cady, $116.

The Coffin Valve Co. was the lowest bidder, but in view of the fact that the company was not prepared to make suitable delivery the contract was awarded the next lowest bidder, the Kennedy Valve Co.

The following contract was awarded Saturday.

Carroll Brothers of this city were awarded the contract by the purchasing agent Saturday to supply 12 six-inch hub and gates, to open to the right and to test 300 pounds pressure, for the water department. They were $135 cheaper than the Pratt & Cady company of Hartford, Conn., who bid $170 per gate. Carroll Brothers will supply the Crane company hub and gates.

Other bids submitted were: Coffin Valve Co., Boston, $98; Chapman Valve Mfg. Co., Indian Orchard, Mass., $920 each; Ludlow Valve Co., Troy, N. Y., $11.95 each; Rensselaer Valve Co., Troy, N. Y., $11 each; Kennedy Valve Mfg. Co., Elmira, N. Y., $28.50; R. D. Wood Co., Philadelphia, Pa., $10 each; and Pratt & Cady Valve Co., Hartford, Conn., $7.50 each.

SALISBURY BEACH FIRES

Cortes of Lawrence, a former owner of the cottage, Attorney Walter Coulson, and Ralph Pratt of Haverhill testified. The outcome of the inquiry was not made public.

SULZER SAYS HE'S GOVERNOR

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 10.—William Sulzer asserts he is still governor of New York. It developed today. In a letter, copies of which were sent to the state treasurer and the state comptroller, he demanded his full salary for the last half of October, 1913, which would amount to $420.14. According to his letter, the impeachment proceeding were illegal, unconstitutional and void and the letter closed "I am still legal governor of the state."

B. & M. FREIGHT RATES

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—In opposing the Boston & Maine railroad's request for permission to increase its freight rates the Boston chamber of commerce and seven affiliated commercial organizations suggest in a brief, prepared to be filed with the interstate commerce commission at Washington today, that the road sell some of its unnecessary securities and take back the traffic it has diverted to the New York, New Haven & Hartford road, thereby overcoming a large part of its acknowledged financial deficiency.

FIRE PREVENTION CLEAN-UP WEEK

Observance in Schools Today—Addresses by Firemen—Increase in Refuse Removed

In some of the districts of this city today it was very noticeable that this week has been set aside by the mayor as fire prevention week, for the sidewalks were literally covered with receptacles containing refuse of all descriptions accumulated in attics, cellars and alleyways for some time. The employees of the health department were on the job bright and early and load after load was removed to places set aside for the reception of such stuff.

A few days ago the mayor issued a proclamation setting aside the week of Nov. 10 as fire prevention week, and the citizens of this city have endorsed the proposition and many started to do a general clean-up last week. However, those who have not set right down to business will undoubtedly do so before the present week has expired.

The fire prevention movement is being observed throughout the city, as well as in the public and parochial schools, where the children were to given lectures on this important subject by members of the fire department. The board of trade, whose members are really the instigators of this movement, has arranged for a meeting tomorrow evening, which will be addressed by an expert on this topic. The final arrangements are now complete and the meeting will be held at the board of trade rooms at 5 p. m.

The address of the evening will be delivered by Franklin H. Wentworth, who is secretary of the National Fire Protection association. He is a very interesting speaker and deals with the

Fisherman Drowned When His Boat Was Capsized

Dividend Will be Paid Depositors in Providence Bank

SWANS ISLAND, Me., Nov. 10.—The body of Edward Sherman, aged 35, a fisherman was found in the surf today. He was drowned last night when he went out to his lobster car in a punt and presumably was capsized by the wind and seas.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 10.—A dividend of 12 1/2 per cent. will be paid to depositors of the Atlantic National bank, which closed its doors last April. Edward P. Metcalf, its former president, is now under several indictments alleging misappropriation of more than $200,000 of the bank's funds.

This will make a total of 50 per cent. paid to depositors since the bank suspended. The dividend will amount to $261,056, making the total paid out $1,044,345. Receiver R. L. Curtis declared that claims aggregating more than $50,000 still remain unproven and that probably many of these will never be proved for the reason that they are small savings accounts of foreigners who have left the city and whose addresses cannot be ascertained.

In settling the affairs of an insolvent bank it is the practice of the receiver to return to the depositors as quickly as possible the amount of their deposits. To this end he does not wait until he has gathered sufficient capital to make an entire payment but at different intervals pays out a percentage of the deposit, continuing this until he has returned to the depositor every dollar said depositor had in the bank.

LOST AT SEA COTTON GOODS

Man Drowned When
His Dory Was Cut in
Two by Schooner

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—With her flag at half mast, the fishing schooner Onata arrived at T wharf yesterday, reporting the loss of Horace Nickerson, one of the crew, when the dory in which he had been fishing was cut in two by the schooner.

The Onata had just completed a day's fishing about 55 miles east-south-east of Thatcher's Island and had recalled the dories. The first to answer the call was that in which Nickerson and Joseph Atwood had been fishing.

The Onata swung up in the wind to permit the dory to come up alongside, but instead of doing what was expected of them the two men in the dory attempted to cross the vessel's bows. A strong wind was blowing, which drove them down on the schooner. At the same moment the wind filled the sails of the schooner and she forged ahead, cutting the dory almost in two and throwing the men into the water.

Atwood was unable to swim, but grasped the gunwale and dragged himself into it. Nickerson was able to swim, but made no attempt to reach the dory. He was weighted down by sea-boots and oilskins and floundered helplessly in the rough sea.

The men on the schooner were unable to offer any immediate aid to the two men, for all the dories were out, and the nearest one was half a mile to windward. The captain headed for the nearest dory and towed it to the place where the half-sunk dory was wallowing in the waves with Atwood lying in the bottom.

Nickerson had disappeared. Two men rowed to the damaged boat and took Atwood aboard, and after hoisting the wreck of the dory on deck Captain Larkin headed for Provincetown, where he telegraphed the news to the relatives of the drowned man.

Nickerson was 30 years old and unmarried. He lived in Nova Scotia, where his father, Levi Nickerson, lives.

Demand for Fabrics
Quite Brisk and Business Fairly Active

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Final statistics of the manufacture of cotton goods, including cotton small wares, in the United States for 1909 are presented in detail in a bulletin soon to be issued by Director Harris of the bureau of the census, department of commerce. It was prepared under the direction of W. M. Stewart, chief statistician for manufactures.

The cotton goods industry is one of the oldest and most typical factory industries in the United States. In 1909 it ranked third among the industries of the country in number of wage earners, being exceeded only by the lumber industry and the foundry and machine shop industry, and seventh in value of products and in value added by manufacture.

In 1909 there were 1324 establishments in the United States engaged in the manufacture of cotton goods, including cotton small wares, which was an increase of 25.5 per cent over 1908. The capital invested amounted to $22,237,528, an increase of 75 per cent over 1908.

The value of products reported for 1909, which, however, involves considerable duplication, was $28,391,812, and the total cost of materials was $27,009,470. The industry gave employment to an average of 387,771 persons, of whom 378,880 were wage earners, and the amount paid in salaries and wages was $147,370,903.

The industry is confined almost entirely to the states east of the Mississippi, from the territory west of the river only 29 establishments having been reported.

Massachusetts is the most important state, ranking first both in 1908 and in 1909. In 1909 this state employed 28.7 per cent of the total number of wage earners and contributed 29.7 per cent of the total value of products for the United States. North Carolina ranked second and South Carolina third, these two states having changed places since 1904. Rhode Island ranked fourth, Georgia, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Alabama, in the order named, were the states next in rank. In general, the percentages of increase in the leading southern cotton manufacturing states were decidedly greater than those in the northern states.

The average number of persons engaged in the cotton manufacturing industry as a whole during 1909 was 387,771, of whom 378,880, or 97.7 per cent, were wage earners. Of the total number, 241,226, or 62.2 per cent, were males, and 146,645, or 37.8 per cent, were females. The average number of children under 16 years of age employed as wage earners was 39,306, of whom nearly one-half were girls. Children constituted 10.4 per cent of the total number of wage earners.

In three of the Southern states—Alabama, North Carolina and South Carolina—nearly 10 per cent of all wage earners in the industry were children under 16 years of age. In Massachusetts, the leading state in the industry, however, only 5.7 per cent were children. The proportion of women employed, however, was much larger. In Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island than in the Southern states.

Of the total number of wage earners in 1909, 17.4 per cent were spinners and 28.4 per cent were weavers. In 1904 spinners constituted 19.1 per cent and weavers 82.2 per cent of the total number of wage earners. The marked decline in the proportion of weavers is due in a measure to the more general installation of automatic looms, which make possible a great increase in the output per weaver.

Practically one-half (50.4 per cent) of the wage earners employed in the cotton manufacturing industry in 1909 were in establishments where the prevailing hours of labor were between 40 and 60 per week, and nearly one-third (31.5 per cent) were employed in establishments where the hours were 60 or more.

Establishments where the hours were 60 or more.

Form of Ownership

Of the total number of mills reported for the industry in 1909, 84.1 per cent were under corporate ownership, as compared with 79.3 per cent in 1904; of the total value of products the corporate establishments contributed 95.3 per cent in 1909 and 92.8 per cent in 1904. These figures indicate a slight gain during the five year period in the relative importance, as measured by value of products, of establishments under corporate ownership. Of the total number of wage earners, 53.6, or 1.4 per cent, were employed in establishments under individual ownership; 11,250, or 2.9 per cent, in those under firm ownership, and 32,264, or 8.5 per cent, in those owned by corporations.

In the 1324 establishments reported for 1909, 163, or 12.3 per cent, manufactured products valued at 1,000,000 or over. There were included in this group five establishments with products valued at $5,000,000 or over; the greatest value of the products of any one establishment was $17,000,000. The small establishments—that is, those manufacturing products valued at less than $20,000—constituted a very small proportion of the total number at both censuses, and the value of their products formed only one-tenth of one per cent of the total.

The average value of products per establishment increased from $39,333 in 1904 to $474,616 in 1909, and the average number of wage earners likewise increased from 274 in 1904 to 258 in 1909.

The total expenses reported for the industry in 1909 were $154,221,658, distributed as follows: Cost of materials, $27,009,470, or 17.5 per cent; wages, $147,370,903, or 95.3 per cent; salaries, $14,111,755, or 9.2 per cent; and miscellaneous expenses, made up of advertising, ordinary repairs of buildings and machinery, insurance, traveling expenses, interest on loans, and other items, $55,911,315, or 3.6 per cent.

The states which ranked highest with respect to the amount of power used were Massachusetts, South Carolina, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Georgia. The total horsepower reported for these states in 1909 was 602,635, or 63.6 per cent of the total for the entire industry in the United States. Steam was the most important form of primary power except in Maine and Virginia, in which states water power was used to a greater extent than any other form of power. Although a large proportion of the power used in this industry is either water or wind, electric power, the amount of fuel consumed is very large. Bituminous coal is the principal class of fuel used, 3,327,802 short tons being consumed in 1909. Massachusetts reported the largest quantity, 918,835 tons, or over one-fourth of the entire amount used in the industry.

Cost of Materials

The total cost of materials as reported for 1909, which, however, includes a considerable amount of duplication, was $27,009,470, an increase of $14,457,943, or 110.1 per cent, over 1908. Raw cotton is by far the most important material, the amount used by establishments having increased from 1,817,643,322 pounds in 1908 to 2,338,349,906 pounds in 1909, or 28.5 per cent, and its cost from $125,265,616 to $274,724,210, or 119.5 per cent.

One of the most important points brought out is the marked increase in cotton consumption in the cotton-growing states and the consequent increase in the relative importance of the older manufacturing sections. In 1909 the New England states reported 63.9 per cent of the total cotton consumption for the industry, but the proportion had decreased to 61.5 per cent in 1908, and to 44.5 per cent in 1904. On the other hand, the cotton-growing states, which comprise Virginia, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and the states south, reported 22.4 per cent of the total consumption in 1909, 33.9 per cent in 1908, and 49.5 per cent in 1904.

Massachusetts was in 1909, as it had been in prior census years, the largest consumer of cotton, 1,214,214 bales, or 52.3 per cent of the total consumed in the cotton manufacturing industry of the state during the year. North Carolina was the next largest user of cotton in 1909. South Carolina was third, Georgia fourth, and New Hampshire fifth.

Value of Products

The total value of all products reported by establishments in the industry for 1909 was $28,391,812, including cotton small wares. In 1908 the value was $22,237,528, a gain of $6,154,284, or 27.7 per cent, over 1908. This increase is due in part to the higher prices prevailing in 1909. The value of cotton goods, as reported by establishments in the industry, increased 40.2 per cent, between 1908 and 1909. The value of woven goods in 1909 represented a little less than three-fourths of the total value of all products.

Plain cloths for printing or converting comprise by far the most important class of woven goods, as measured by quantity, constituting, in 1909, 25 per cent of the total. Brown and bleached sheetings and shirtings ranked second, followed by gingham, fancy woven fabrics, twills and patterns, and napped fabrics. In the order named, the production of each of these classes of cloths being more than 300,000,000 square yards in 1909. The output of plain cloths for printing or converting increased 40.7 per cent, between 1908 and 1909, and its value 22.3 per cent. The output of sheetings and shirtings increased 22.4 per cent, and their value 60 per cent. For these, as for practically all the other classes of products, the percentage of increase in value was much greater than that in quantity. The most important products of the industry, other than woven fabrics, are yarns, thread, and cotton waste. The value of the yarns made for sale as such in 1909 was $109,314,553, or more than one-third of the total value of products of the industry. A considerable part of this yarn was sold to other establishments in the same industry. The quantity of yarn reported as produced for sale in 1909 was 470,376,995 pounds, while the quantity of yarns reported as purchased by cotton mills was 126,707,003 pounds. The amount of thread manufactured increased 19 per cent, and its value 72.3 per cent. Cordage and twine are the most important of the secondary products of the cotton manufacturing industry. Cotton twine and cotton cordage are made to the amount of 21,412,078 pounds having been reported for 1909 by establishments engaged primarily in this industry. The value of these products was $3,581,917.

Number of Spindles and Looms

The total number of cotton spindles in the principal textile industries in 1909 was 28,178,862, of which 27,455,400 were in the cotton mills, including a comparatively small number in the spinning cotton small wares. The increase in the number of spindles from 1904 to 1909 was 5,079,504, or 22.3 per cent, and from 1899 to 1909, 8,714,578, or 44.5 per cent. The greatest percentage of increase in any industry from 1899 to 1909 was in the hosiery and knit-goods industry—135 per cent. Eight states—Georgia, the two Carolinas, and all the New England states except Vermont—reported over 1,000,000 active producing spindles in 1909. Massachusetts, the leading state, with 5,627,001 spindles a gain of 1,705,936, or 42.5 per cent, for the 10 year period 1899-1909. South Carolina reported the greatest absolute and relative increase during the decade, the gain being 2,323,922 spindles, or 161.3 per cent. In North Carolina the increase was 1,820,909 spindles, or 160.1 per cent.

While the number of ring spindles has increased rapidly from census to census, the number of mule spindles reported decreased steadily from 1899 to 1909. In 1899 mule spindles formed 29.3 per cent of the total; and in 1909, only 17.3 per cent. The use of mule and ring spindles is confined chiefly to the northern states.

There was a total of 632,943 looms employed in the cotton mills in 1909 (exclusive of the mills in the cotton small wares industry). The total number of looms increased 182,251, or 40.4 per cent, during the decade. The greatest increase for the decade in any geographic division was 93,875, or 23.3 per cent, in the South Atlantic division; the New England division shows an increase of 74,675, or 25 per cent.

The average number of spindles per loom was 334 in 1904, and 407 in 1909, and the average number of looms per weaver was 5.3 in 1904, and 6.5 in 1909. The several states differ greatly in the number of spindles per loom, the figures for the southern states being very much lower than those for the New England states.

Cotton Small Wares

A considerable number of establishments which use cotton or cotton yarn as their chief material do not make piece goods, but confine their operations to the manufacture of narrow fabrics, such as braids, tapes, binding, shoe laces, and corset laces, incidentally spinning small quantities of yarn for sale. These establishments constitute the cotton small wares branch of the cotton manufacturing industry.

From 1899 to 1904 the number of establishments in the cotton small wares branch of the industry decreased from 52 to 77, but in 1909 these establishments numbered 116. The average number of wage earners in the industry was 116, and the value of products increased 106 per cent, during the same period. In 1909 the largest number of establishments was reported for Pennsylvania, with Rhode Island ranking next, but in value of products the latter state ranked first. Three states show a very considerable increase in value of products between 1904 and 1909, namely Massachusetts (164.5 per cent), Rhode Island (118.1 per cent), and Pennsylvania (108.9 per cent).

The total value of products in the cotton small wares industry in 1909 was $124,111, as compared with $6,394,181 in 1904. The total cost of materials was $6,995,968, an increase of 124.9 per cent, over 1908. There were 29,503 spindles, and 32,086 looms reported for 1909, a decrease in the former of 20 per cent, and an increase in the latter of 532.8 per cent, over 1908.

BAND CONCERT

Despite the inclement weather the state armory in Westford street was yesterday afternoon the scene of a large gathering, the occasion being a band concert in a series of municipal concerts. The Sixth Regiment band, Bert F. Tabor, conductor, supplied excellent music and the numbers heard were difficult and well rendered. The audience which was large, was very appreciative for the applause was frequent, and many encores were called for.

RUMORS OF WAR

Mobilization of 2nd Regiment in Springfield Causes Excitement

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 10.—The mobilization of the 12 companies, the entire roster of the 2d regiment, M. V. M., the officers, hospital corps and band, was the cause of great excitement in Worcester, Hampden, Berkshire and Hampshire counties yesterday, and the spectacle of uniformed men passing through the streets and boarding trains led to widely circulated rumors that war had broken out with Mexico.

The alarming rumors spread rapidly throughout the western part of the state and caused great excitement in the cities and towns where the summons was sounded. Men telephoned to various sources of information, and some even telegraphed to Washington to learn whether the nation was involved in war with Huerta. The excitement was unintentionally caused by Col. William C. Hayes, who sent out the call for the men of the regiment to gather here. The entire command answered roll call by companies within six hours after the first summons was issued.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning Col. Hayes and his adjutant, Paul R. Norton, commenced notifying the company officers by telephone that they were to report with their commands at the armory at the earliest possible moment.

The companies were as follows: A, of Worcester, B, of Springfield, C, of Worcester, D, of Holyoke, E, of Orange, F, of Pittsfield, G, of Springfield, H, of Worcester, I, of Northampton, K, of Springfield, L, of Greenfield, M, of Adams, hospital corps and band of Springfield. The telephone calls were completed at 8.45, the last companies arriving from Worcester at 12.55.

The intention of Col. Hayes was to have the entire regiment march to Forest Park for maneuvers, but owing to the inclement weather the march was called off. Mess was served in the armory, after which the men listened to an address by Walton L. Danks of Worcester, regimental chaplain, on the inevitability of war.

The regiment reassembled shortly before 6 o'clock and headed by the band, marched to the Union station, where the out-of-town companies embarked for their homes. Col. Hayes said last night that the mobilization was a complete success.

BERKSHIRES EXCITED

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 10.—A sudden call "to arms" of the M. V. M. caused a lot of excitement through central Berkshire yesterday. At 9.20 the fire whistle blew 10 blasts and war was spread broadcast there was a big fire, although that number is not on the fire list. Half an hour later the signal was given again.

Between 30 and 40 officers and men responded and upon reaching the armory received orders to take the 10.33 train for Springfield. Residents in Berkshire towns surrounding Pittsfield heard war had been declared on Mexico and many number of telephone inquiries were received here. One Pittsfield man wired Washington to learn the truth.

CALLED IN NORTHAMPTON

NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 10.—Thirty-five men and three officers of Co. I, 2d regiment, responded yesterday morning to the 10 strokes of the fire alarm bell which was sounded at 8.35 and was a summons to report at Springfield for the mobilization of the regiment. The company, with Co. L, of Greenfield and Co. D, of Holyoke, was taken to Springfield by special train.

ALARM IN WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Nov. 10.—Responding to a general order, Co. A, C and H of the 2d regiment went to Springfield yesterday for mobilization. The gathering of the men in the armory was started at 5 o'clock when alarm lists were circulated. By 12 the men were ready for the trip to Springfield. As a result of the uniformed men parading through the streets, rumors of war with Mexico were circulated.

SHOT BY DOCTOR

Nurse Victim of Accident in Malden Hospital

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—That a nurse in the Malden hospital was accidentally shot by the house physician, Dr. Stanley F. Duncan, more than five weeks ago became known in Malden yesterday. The shooting occurred shortly after another nurse, Miss Robinson, was assaulted and stabbed by an unknown man, and was the cause of precautions taken against further attacks being made on the hospital nurses.

According to Dr. Godfrey Ryder, a member of the medical board, the injured nurse is Miss Maude Eastwood. "Dr. Duncan," said Dr. Ryder yesterday, "was authorized by the Malden police to carry a revolver in order to protect the nurses from further assault."

"Dr. Duncan, when he obtained the revolver, showed it to Miss Eastwood and several other nurses. While he was examining it a shell, which was in one of the chambers, was discharged, the bullet striking Miss Eastwood in the left shoulder."

"The wound was only a slight one in the flesh, and caused the nurse no inconvenience. The matter was so trivial that nothing was said about it, although no efforts were taken to suppress the affair."

GOOD SUPPLY OF MENHADEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Fearing that the fishing industry might be ruined by the immense catches of menhaden used in the manufacture of oil and fertilizer seems to be dispelled by a report from the United States fish commission which declares the supply of menhaden does not appear to be diminishing. The menhaden, which is food for other fish, is exceedingly plentiful and it is thought in spite of the big catches of this fish along the Atlantic coast, that the future supply is in no danger.

The present season is not over but figures just prepared for last year show that 6,850,000 gallons of oil and $8,000 tons of fertilizer were made from the menhaden. This was valued at $3,700,000.

Are You Subject to Backache?

The muscles of the back are constantly under heavy strain and have but little rest throughout the day. They are therefore in need of all the nourishment and strength that plenty of pure, red blood can give them. Unless they have this help you will have backache and continue to have it.

Backache seldom or never means kidney trouble. It is nothing more than the tired, weary, worn-out muscles of the back showing their exhaustion because of lack of good pure blood.

If you are subject to backache you have reason to suspect the condition of your blood. The one generally recognized blood purifier and builder—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—is worthy a serious trial.

Call at your druggist's and get a box of these pills. You will find them different and more effective than any other medicine you can take for the blood. You will notice that besides strengthening your nerves and banishing your backache Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will tone up your entire system and give you an appetite that will make your meals enjoyable.

TROOPS GO SOUTH NIGHT

Four Troops of Cavalry To be Started Under the Auspices of the C. Y. M. L.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The first squadron, four troops of the 15th cavalry, commanded by Col. Jos. Gariard, left Fort Myers, Va., today by train for Fort Bliss, Tex., to relieve the third squadron of the Fifth cavalry patrolling the Mexican border.

The movement is in accordance with orders issued a month ago. Two squadrons of the 15th cavalry at Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, are to relieve the other two squadrons of the Fifth cavalry on the border and the Second cavalry are to be relieved by the Tenth cavalry now at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont. Orders have not yet been issued for the transfer of the Second and Fifth cavalry to their northern and eastern stations.

A NON-PARTISAN BILL

FRES. WILSON BELIEVES THE CURRENCY BILL WILL BE SUPPORTED BY ALL PARTIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Only in the sense that the democratic party will be responsible for currency legislation and therefore must direct its progress does President Wilson believe the currency bill will be made a party measure. He told callers today that he expected it would be a non-partisan bill when completed.

The president said he regarded it as a significant circumstance that the conference called for Wednesday by democratic senators was a spontaneous act on their part and not at his request. The president pointed out that the move, however, met with his entire approval and indicated that a great many democratic senators were growing as anxious as he that the currency program be accelerated.

TEMPLETON DISCHARGED

COULD NOT BE HELD FOR KILLING MISS MARGARET KENEFFICK

NEWTON, Nov. 10.—Holding that the death of Miss Margaret Kenefick, who was killed Saturday by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of William Templeton was an accident, Judge Kenefick of the district court discharged Templeton from custody today. Templeton, although not charged with any offense, had been detained since the young woman's death.

ANIMALS WITH TUBERCULOSIS

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Fifteen years from now there would be no meat to eat if all animals in the primary stage of tuberculosis should be rejected by official inspectors," said Dr. Theobald Smith of the Harvard medical school. Dr. Smith made this assertion to the students in an address yesterday to emphasize the extent to which he said tuberculosis had increased among animals. He explained that animals in the primary stage of the disease were not condemned by officials, as it was not necessary for the protection of the food supply. He urged a rigid enforcement of regulations for the killing of all animals in advanced stages of tuberculosis and the establishment of local abattoirs under scientific inspection.

SCHOOL

To be Started Under the Auspices of the C. Y. M. L.

The final arrangements for the evening preparatory business school under the auspices of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum of this city were completed at a business meeting of the organization yesterday when Rev. Bro. Osmund addressed the body. The classes will start at 7.15 o'clock this evening, and will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week. The subjects to be taught will include English, arithmetic, full course spelling, penmanship, the latter the famous Palmer method of business writing; bookkeeping, a modern method; and a special course in stenography and typewriting.

The interest in this school on the part of the members of the Lyceum is intense and it followed out according to the indications, he classes will be highly successful. It is the intention to hold this first for members of the C. Y. M. L., and later, if the attendance and interest warrants, to extend it to all the young men of the parish. The teachers will be Rev. Brother Osmund, principal of St. Patrick's boys' school, through whose kindness and energy this night school originated; preparation for civil service examinations will be the aim of the school.

"Lowell Night" will be observed by the Catholic Young Men's club of Lawrence on the evening of November 20, when the members of the Lyceum and their lady friends will journey to the down river city as a return visit. Recently the Lawrence people came to Lowell and were guests of the Lyceum here and a most enjoyable evening of dancing, games, etc. was spent. A similar program will be carried out in Lawrence on that occasion. Six new chest weights and some other apparatus have arrived and are being installed in the gymnasium of the Lyceum in Suffolk street. The basketball games will start tomorrow night when the second team of the society will line up against a picked team.

BUCK O'BRIEN HOME

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Pitcher Buck O'Brien, who started out with the world's champion Red Sox of 1912, later to be sold to the Chicago White Sox and subsequently, by Manager Jimmy Callahan, shunted off to the Pacific Coast league, is back again in his accustomed haunts. O'Brien will make his home in Brockton his headquarters for a few weeks, and then Buck intends going out in vaudeville with a singing act in which he is the whole thing.

O'Brien declares that he had considerable difficulty in getting started this season and that, after he first went to California, he found that the change in the climate both of him a lot. At the end of the Pacific Coast season, and it didn't end until two weeks ago yesterday, O'Brien was pitching better ball than at any time during the season.

ICE HOUSE FIRE Lowell Firemen Were Called to No. Chelmsford This Morning

A telephone alarm was sent to the Lowell fire department early this morning by the chief of the North Chelmsford firemen but the call was occasioned by potential danger more than an actual conflagration. A small shed near the big ice houses in North Chelmsford caught fire and for a time it looked as though the ice houses would catch fire. The flames were eventually extinguished, however, and the shed was not damaged. The fire was caused by a small fire in the shed which was used for storing ice. The firemen were called to the scene at about 10 o'clock this morning. The fire was quickly put out and the ice houses were not damaged.

VIGOROUS DENIAL

Statement of Former
Pres. Mellen Causes
Stir in R.R. Circles

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Commenting on a long statement published yesterday from Charles S. Mellen, telling of 10 years' dealings with financial interests as head of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad system, Frederic J. MacLeod, chairman of the public service commission, said last night that he did not agree with Mr. Mellen's claim that he could have kept up the 8 per cent. dividend on New Haven stock if continued as president.

"There was no possibility of Mr. Mellen's maintaining the dividend for the condition of the road has been such for years that well informed people have known that the 8 per cent. paid in the past was not earned," he said.

Mr. Mellen's statement in general declared that for 10 years he was simply an employee of the New Haven system in the capacity of operating head, and that during that time financial forces behind him but beyond his control, struggled for supremacy; and that he was retired to appease public clamor and avoid an investigation which would unearth the inside workings of financial rings. Boston bankers who are desirous of controlling the New England traffic field were accused by him of having stirred up agitation against the New Haven system.

GIRLS! GIRLS! TRY IT, BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Make It Thick, Glossy, Wavy, Luxuriant and Remove All Dandruff

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandarine" hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandarine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandarine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy, at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Dandarine from any drug-gist or toilet counter, and just try it.

National Shawmut bank, and a representative of Morgan interests here took exception to Mr. Mellen's statement about Boston bankers, saying he believed they had sustained instead of hindered Mr. Mellen in his work.

"It isn't true that the bankers allied with our house are responsible for the New Haven turmoil," said Charles A. Stone, head of the firm of Stone & Webster.

George von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy, and chairman of the stockholders' protective committee of the New Haven gave out a statement last night, denying Mr. Mellen's assertion that the committee was "a marionette" and that it was formed at the behest of the New Haven's fiscal agent.

"The stockholders' committee," he said, "was not formed in the interests of the fiscal agency of the New Haven or of any bankers. It merely represents the stockholders."

COMMITTEE MAY QUIT

TALK OF LEAVING CURRENCY BILL TO DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Work on a report on the Administration Currency bill, to be submitted to the democratic conference of the senate Wednesday, was continued yesterday by Senators Owen, Shafroth, Pomerene and Hollis, the four democrats who found it impossible to put the measure through the senate banking committee.

As it goes to the conference the report will recommend the bill virtually as it came from the house, with a number of minor amendments and changes of phraseology which the administration believes necessary to perfect it.

When the committee meets tomorrow it will be in the position of working on a measure which apparently is doomed to be discarded. There is some question as to whether the committee will continue its struggle to reach an agreement or whether it will give up the attempt and leave the entire matter to be disposed of by the conference. The latter course will probably be recommended by the administration leaders, but they may have some difficulty in inducing the committee to suspend work.

At any rate the republican members of the committee will continue their efforts to perfect a bill and will report a completed measure to the senate. There, it is expected, the fight against the administration bill will be sharp and long drawn out.

"If the president is spoiling for a fight, he can have it," Senator Nelson, republican, informed Chairman Owen at the close of Saturday's futile session of the committee. All of the republican members of the committee took that position yesterday.

HOW TO DESTROY THE DANDRUFF GERM

BY A SPECIALIST

That the dandruff germ is responsible for nearly all the diseases of the scalp is held, as well as for baldness and premature gray hair, is a well known fact, but when we realize that it is also indirectly responsible for many of the worst cases of catarrh and consumption, we appreciate the importance of any agent that will destroy its power. We are, therefore, particularly pleased to give herewith the prescription which an eminent scientist states he has found after repeated tests, to completely destroy the dandruff germ in from one to three applications. It will also almost immediately stop falling hair and it has in numerous cases produced a new hair growth after years of baldness. This prescription can be made up at home, or any druggist will put it up for you. It is known as Bay Rum 2 ounce Lavender Compose, one-half drachm Menthol Crystals. Mix thoroughly, and after standing half an hour it is ready for use. At PMV night and morning, rubbing into the scalp with the finger-tips. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. While this preparation is not a dye, it is unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color.

SAYS ELLIS WILL WIN

COUNSEL DECLARES THAT PERJURY CHARGE IS MADE MERELY TO SECURE EXTRADITION

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The refusal of Japan to extradite John Ellis is considered justifiable by the Boston counsel for the ex-clergyman, J. Porter Russell. Mr. Russell and his associates are convinced that Japan will never give him up on the charges on which he is wanted in this state.

"The application for his extradition wouldn't hold water when the facts are fully represented," said one of the associate counsel yesterday. "The charge of perjury was merely intended to give those who want Ellis jurisdiction in that country. Much has been said on the other side of the case, and today we read that counsel for the wife, Mrs. Harriet C. Ellis, is certain that Japan will surrender her husband."

"We feel that there never was any basis for a perjury charge, and that this charge was preferred because it would give them grounds for extradition. The perjury consisted only in making an application in the usual form for his wife's commitment to an insane hospital and making oath that she was insane."

"Ellis signed that affidavit with the statement of two reputable physicians."

Attorney Roger Sherman Hoar, counsel for Mrs. Ellis, had a lengthy conference yesterday with Judge Stevens of the superior court in an effort to devise a way in which to bring about the extradition of the alleged seductor. The conference was held in the judge's lobby at the Pemberton square court house.

Attorney Hoar believes he will eventually overcome the obstacles which now present themselves and that Ellis will be brought back to the United States to face the indictments charging perjury and abduction of his six-year-old daughter. He believes that when the Japanese authorities learn that Ellis' affidavit regarding his wife's mental condition was introduced in open court, and as such has some legal evidence under the statutes of Massachusetts, they will allow the officer to bring him back to this country.

The latest despatches from the Orient state that Japan has refused to honor the requisition; papers on the contention that the case against Ellis is not perjury under the laws of that country, which require that false testimony must be given during a judicial proceeding to constitute a crime.

HEART FAILURE

Caused the Death of Treffle Tessier—Died
Suddenly Today

Treffle Tessier, residing at the boarding house of Mrs. Paul Vayo, 15 Garnet street, and employed at the Lowell Hobbit & Shuttle Co. died suddenly this morning, the cause of death, it is believed, being heart failure. Deceased has no relatives in this city, and after the remains were viewed by Medical Examiner J. V. Helges, they were removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

Tessier, who was a middle aged man, retired as usual last night and did not complain of being ill. This morning shortly before 6 o'clock Mrs. Vayo knocked at his door and told him it was time to get ready to go to work. He did not reply, and no more attention was paid to him until after breakfast when some one remarked that Tessier was not around. Another call to Tessier's room was made and this time the door was forced open, and the dead form of Tessier was found lying on the floor of the bed.

It is believed that Tessier arose this morning, for he had his working clothes on when found, and that he became weak and lay on the foot of the bed, where he passed away. The medical examiner was notified and he viewed the body. Deceased has relatives residing in Woonsocket, R. I., and the same were this morning notified of his death.

TO COLLECT INCOME TAX
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Application has been made to help the treasury department collect the $100,000,000 it hopes to raise through the income tax are flowing into the office of commissioner of internal revenue Osborn at the rate of $100 per day. Since the tariff bill, which provides in it was signed by the president, more than four thousand applications have been received and they still are pouring in.

Deputy collectors, agents and minor employees to be appointed to collect the millions amount in number only to about 400,000, so it is probable that more than nine applicants in ten will be disappointed.

THE CURRENCY BILL

With only three weeks to the time that the special session of congress will end it becomes doubtful if the currency bill will become law before the next regular session despite the wishes of the president to the contrary. He has always insisted on its consideration during the present session and wisely for the tariff bill was only half his scheme of business reform, and he has a great many other important matters in hand which can be considered only when the currency question is settled. Now, however, there seems to be no disposition among the members of the senate committee on banking and currency to hurry the measure along, and though they have made some important changes in it, there are differences of opinion in evidence of sufficient importance to make its chances of success seem dim at the present time.

The Glass bill has been shown by experts to be a decided improvement over the currency system now in vogue and the sincerity of most of the opposition to it is questionable. There seems to be too great a desire to make it perfect in unimportant details, even in face of the fact that provision has been made for the adjustment of any minor inconsistencies that would naturally creep out in its operation. Those who believe that it would remove many of the present restraints of business must have some degree of sympathy with the proposal of Hoke Smith and other democrats of national prominence, to put some coercion on the committee by caucus or otherwise. On the other hand it is gratifying to learn that most of the improvements have left it unchanged in principle and whether passed in the present session or during the regular session that will begin December 1st it will bear at the finish the distinguishing marks that make it superior to the inadequate financial system now in force.

Were the tariff bill followed by the panic so strenuously predicted by some who loved their unlawful profits more than they loved the country or its people, the necessity for the new currency bill would have been felt so strongly that it would have been passed through the senate without delay. But we have struggled along with the present currency system for many years—some say we have struggled along in spite of it—and there is no immediate need for the passage of the new measure which has not existed for a long time. But before another critical strain comes on the industry of the country, it is to be hoped that we shall have a currency bill with the features included that make the Glass bill so desirable from the business point of view. While expediency is to be hoped for, there is no great reason to fear delay. Currency revision is sure to come, for it is backed by the administration with unusual earnestness and the public has been educated in the financial situation by the long and comprehensive discussion that has followed the progress of the bill in both houses of congress.

TO TEMPT FATE

The boldness of the declaration of Congressman Gardner that he will be a candidate for the governorship a year hence and that he will retire from congress for the purpose of making a more effective campaign than he made this year, leads us to suppose that he enjoyed his defeat sufficiently to make him wish for the experience again. If he believes that the members of his party will change their views sufficiently in the meantime to let him lead them from the very humiliating position of third place, he is more optimistically buoyant than Shakespeare's "little wanton boys that swim on bladders." It would be ungalant to suppose that Mr. Gardner is actuated by anything more selfish than the noble desire to again make a fight for principle, but it seems extremely doubtful that the republican party will allow any man to lead them a second time like lambs to the slaughter for the first set of principles that were ever born in a head with a half of real or imaginary progressiveness around it.

Before coming to the lofty resolve to again sacrifice himself for the good of his party, Congressman Gardner might have advantageously sat down in a quiet place apart and thought things over. He might have asked himself why his campaign lacked enthusiasm and grew more dead daily. He might have asked himself how far were his pet theories really desirable and in how much they were personal hobbies. He might have come to some wise solutions of the difficulties that have made the republican party unpopular in this state. He might—but what's the use?—he didn't. He must have taken the view that instead of being the candidate of a party that until very recently dominated the politics of Massachusetts and swept all opposition before it, he was the apostle of some strange ideal doctrine that had appealed to 116,000 people or so. No wonder he felt elated enough to announce his candidacy for the nomination next year. But alas for the hopes of Mr.

Gardner there are sundry rumblings which seem to portend that if he again runs for governor it will be under some independent banner such as that carried so courageously by Governor Foss and mayhap with like result.

EXECUTION OF WOMAN

A great stir has been created in Connecticut and in a lesser degree throughout the country by the sentence passed upon a Mrs. Wakefield, who has been condemned to die on the scaffold for her part in the murder of her husband. Governor Baldwin has been petitioned from all sides to commute her sentence to imprisonment for life, but he appears firm in his determination to let the law take its course. As no woman has been hanged in that state for over one hundred years, there has been no attempt to abolish the death penalty or provide a more merciful form of capital punishment. Whatever may be the outcome in the present instance, it is probable that the wide discussion of the case will result in the abandonment of the scaffold.

One unusual feature of the case of Mrs. Wakefield is that a number of women interested in the cause of woman suffrage are opposed to any commutation of her sentence, based on her sex, because they argue there should be one law for women and men equally. This stand is regrettable for though it is consistent as an abstract proposition from the point of view of the suffragette, it is against the better feelings of thousands of men and women whose humanity is too deep to be swayed either way by the argument of a day as contrasted with the feelings moulded by the civilizing hand of time. No matter how strong may be the case of the one who argues for equal treatment for men and women, there will always be thoughtful thousands to protest against the inflicting of capital punishment on an erring woman, especially when that death takes the form of hanging. It will be interesting in the present case to see if the protests of societies and individuals throughout the country will have any influence on the governor of Connecticut.

THE INDIANAPOLIS STRIKE

While it may have been "inevitable and necessary" that Gov. Ralston call out the state militia to protect the public of Indianapolis from riots attendant on the street car strikes there, we do not need the lessons of the Lawrence strike to teach us that his action was to be regretted as an acknowledgment of incompetence on the part of the municipal officials and the police department of the troubled city. It is almost preposterous to assert that in a city of the status of Indianapolis an employing company and its employees could not reach some agreement without calling on the state militia to still further antagonize the principals and put a heavy financial strain on the people. If we imagine the possibility of such an issue in Lowell, there are few who will believe that it could not be settled without the intervention of the state militia. The most regrettable feature of all strikes is obstinacy whether regarded from the point of view of the employer or the employed. If arbitration is resorted to in some form when the trouble starts there is every hope of its adjustment, but when the opposing parties refuse to come together we may have the national disgrace of state troops that are meant for the protection of all the people intervening to save one part of the community from the other.

PARCEL POST GROWING

In order to handle the greatly increased and increasing business, and to prepare for the coming Christmas season, two new terminal railway postoffices have just been opened in Boston in the North and South stations for the express purpose of handling the parcel post. These offices are in addition to the postoffices already established for the purpose of handling the mail proper, and are meant to relieve the congestion that has arisen owing to the great increase in business. They will remove a great strain from the Boston office as well as the railway postoffices.

What is true of Boston is more or less true of almost every other city in the state. In Springfield the increase has been such as to make the citizens look for a new postoffice and the same is true elsewhere. Probably with the holiday season the volume of business in this department will severely tax the local postoffice, already hopelessly inadequate. The parcel post is bound to increase as people become more and more aware of its great advantages and it has already justified itself beyond the expectation of its warmest supporters.

Seen and Heard

Fashions for dogs are quite as important as those for human beings in the opinion of many fond owners of the animals, who are quite as anxious that the costumes of their pets shall be of the very latest style as that their own outfits shall be above reproach, says the Weekly Scotman. The very newest and most striking sartorial effect for dogs includes a knitted jacket, a gold necklace and a pair of patent leather shoes.

Ordinary sweaters have long been fashionable for dogs, and some of the small animals which suffer very much from the cold, were seen during the last winter with two coverings while out on promenade. The underwrap was a tight-fitting sweater, which extended to quite a distance over the animal's legs. Over this garment was worn the usual blanket coat, which was formerly considered quite sufficient as a wrap.

The fashionable small dog has always its monogrammed handkerchiefs, which are smartly tucked in the pocket of the coat or sweater. Boots to be worn when it is allowed to play in the streets or garden and taken off when it enters the house are also not infrequently a feature of its wardrobe. Motor goggles are considered necessary for some dogs, since they are so fond of the automobile and suffer as do human beings from wind and dust when their eyes are unprotected during a long and rapid run.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Don't Trust Calomel

Thousands Experience Bad After Effects From This Dangerous Drug

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for the Liver

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a laxative and liver tonic in a combination of vegetable materials mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects. Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers. His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him upon experiments with a substitute, and he has been for several years in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet. The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets. They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, and their use has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

There is no necessity when you take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, by following them up with plenty of water, of gripping, salting, or casting oil, as you do after taking calomel. Try them, 10c each, and see how the Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

We Sell Less Cheap Stoves Than Any Firm in Lowell

We miss many sales in the course of a year by almost insisting that the customer buy a well made stove, a stove that by its construction of proper flues and checks will consume less coal. We believe it our duty to our customers to protect them with our knowledge of the goods we sell them. We know it for an absolute fact that an ill-constructed stove, a cheap stove, will burn more coal, in some cases more than a ton per year, and it is our duty to tell the customer even at the risk of losing the sale. We are not after the immediate dollar. We have always built for the future. We know that if the customer doesn't take our word that he will wish he had, and will be our steady customer in the future. But there are degrees of goodness.

There are other good stoves, but none as good as the CRAWFORD PARLOR STOVES and RANGES.

CANDIDATE FOR RE-NOMINATION AS COMMISSIONER

CITIZENS OF LOWELL

Carefully Consider These Points:

I have reduced the water rates 10 per cent. during my term of office as head of the Water Department.

Where for years the city proper has been served by one 30-inch pipe line, crossing the Merrimack river, and liable at any time to impairment, I have caused to be laid a second artery from the Centralville pumping station, giving not only to the Highlands a wholly adequate service, but insuring a plentiful city-wide supply at all times.

Motorization of the Fire Department, making for the greatest degree of efficiency ever known in this city, has been accomplished under my supervision.

Through my efforts a conference with the National Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters has been arranged with members of the Lowell Board of Trade. Its object is the reduction of the rates of insurance.

And two things alone can make this board decide to give you protection against fire loss for less money, and these are efficiency of the city's fire fighting force and an adequate supply of water.

We have them both. We will need no more fire houses or the creation of new companies for many years to come. The flying squadron will cover a district more quickly even than if horse drawn apparatus were located there. And it will cost less.

Just how have these things been accomplished?

The answer is plain:—
PERSONAL SUPERVISION TO EVERY DETAIL—
KNOWING WHAT THE CITY IS GETTING AND MAKING SURE THAT IT IS WHAT THE CITY IS PAYING FOR—BEING ON THE JOB EVERY MINUTE OF THE TIME.

I shall speak during the present week at various places, which will be duly advertised in the newspapers of the city, and to these rallies I ask that citizens come, that they may acquaint themselves with the facts about my conduct of the Department of Water Works and Fire Protection.

In view of the improved conditions of the Departments of Water Works and Fire Protection, I ask your favorable consideration at the Caucuses Nov. 18.

WHY LIAB AND I PARTED

Yes, Liab brought home from the lawyers that paper for me to sign. Saying what was his should be his, and that was mine should be mine. For Liab and I had quarreled so many times, you see. That at last we agreed together we couldn't ever agree. So I read the paper over, each separate paragraph. And found that of all our property he'd give me the better half. For he gave me the house and the homestead and kept the Holyrock hill. He gave me the colt, Saladin, and kept the lane horse. He gave me the brandied heater—we'd lost the line-back cow. He gave me the sheep and the two white geese, and kept the lean old sow. I was mad because he favored me, and made it show so plain. And I spoke to him heartily so much. I should a been mad again. But, looking along the paper, the next thing that I read was, "I give and bequeath the maples to the children when we're dead." Then I knew the one choice left me was a fond of tears or longer. So I told him I would sign the thing to save him from being hung. In his mad old farm and live stock I secured any part or share. I was going home to my mother's, and 'twas none of his business there. I then straight in my face looked Liab, till I turned my head away. He walked out through the kitchen without a word to say. I heard his steps fall away, but I didn't see him go. The maples were blushing scarlet, that he planted so long ago. And under them played our Bessie, child of our happy years. I heard her cry "Daddy!" and then came a flood of tears. But before I could reach the doorway, click went the garden gate. And Liab came in, looking it seemed to say "Two late!" Then Bessie came in from playing, a tear on each round red cheek. And asked, "Where's daddy?" He kissed me but didn't speak. Up in my arms I caught her, and murmured and sobbed her name.

IF HEADACHY, DIZZY, BILIOUS, "CASCARETS"

Clean Your Liver and Waste-clogged Bowels Tonight! Feel Better!

Get a 10-cent box now. You're honest. You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean, stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Bemoaning that ever my darling was born to such a life, and shame, But Liab was gone. The sunshine lay golden along the lane. I strained my eyes with watching, but he did not turn back again. The hours crept by slow-footed. At last came Saturday night. I tidled up the kitchen, and set the house to rights. And cuddled little Bessie until she fell asleep. Then I kissed her eyelids sweet. Oh, how I did miss Liab! I'd given half my life To hear his kind voice saying: "Where are you, my darling?" And I thought of how I'd fretted and aggravated him; It made my heart too heavy and my eyes with tears grew dim. But there was a prayer meeting gathered that night by Deacon West. First I thought I wouldn't go, and then concluded I'd best. For the neighbors knewed we'd parted, and as Liab allus said, They'd lent their kindest service, to help the thing ahead. That night they turned up their noses, with a smile that was nastily a sneer. And asked: "Where's Mr. Pratt, pray?" Why isn't he with you here? I was mad as a pestered hornet, though I tried to be proud and cool; I hated them for their spitefulness, and called myself a fool. But when I could hear it no longer and deacon was praying still, I slipped on and hurried homeward. Silently I entered the kitchen, and silently crossed the floor. I opened the bedroom door. For there was my dear old Liab, And a few tears shone on the pillow that Bessie never shed. One look, and the very next moment And more tears beside him there. Some on my darling's hair. Next morning we burned the paper we both had forgotten to sign. I didn't ask for forgiveness and he didn't ask for mine. But we both pretty much concluded without any words to tell. That what was mine was his, and that was mine as well. Mrs. N. S. Emerson.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

McKINLEY AND WILSON
Lowell Sun: President McKinley's untimely death in yielding to the almost unanimous desire to resign, has led to do right he must stand with Spain, congress and the country. In wide contrast, President Wilson has a free hand, he can do as he pleases, whether he acts in harmony with European governments or independently of them or opposed to them. There is no question that he will find the country against him. He can do as he pleases.

New Bedford Standard: Plenty of out door air is a prescription of value for the child and the adult alike, and it ought not to be lost sight of at this time of the year, when the tendency will be to a shut-in life that will sap the energy and the vitality of even the hardiest. REV. E. MILES FORMER ACTOR

the Social Forum—
Talks of Plays

Says Drama is Valuable
Ally of the Church and
Unjustly Criticized

Rev. Edson Miles, for ten years an actor, spoke at the Social Forum service at Grace Universalist church, Sunday evening, and said that much of the criticism of the theatre is deserved, but it is not all just; that high-minded people should take a more intelligent and active interest in the theatre, and that the drama should be looked upon as a valuable ally of the church.

In part, he said: "My conclusion of the drama is, in part, drawn from a very close connection with it. For ten years I participated in various productions and during that time about 50 plays, classic as well as modern, were given. I speak of this fact in order that you may get my point of view of the ethics of the drama."

"Much of the criticism of the theatre is deserved, but it is not all just. The responsibility for the production of harmful plays is wrongly placed many times. I firmly believe that dramatic art has a legitimate field in which to work and in which to do much good."

"The first question concerns the ideals of dramatic art. Are those ideals worthy? You know that the drama originated in religious observances, in Greece, in connection with Bacchic ceremonies. Later there came the Roman drama, which was a direct outgrowth of the Greek system."

"And, still later, came the mystery or miracle plays which were enacted in churches many times, which were a part of church service, and which gave rise to the English drama, the forerunner of the modern drama."

"Properly conceived, we can no more question the right of the drama to exist than we can question the right of any other institution. It is founded on an instinct in the heart of man, and for this reason it must exist. The devotee of religion would have every play preach some sort of sermon; the educator would have it didactic; the player, who gets to be blasé, would have it new and striking in theme as well as in execution. The average man asks that it be diverting, but he wants it to put no severe demands on his brain, he wants not too much preaching or teaching. In a large measure he is right."

"Dramatic art insists that life is its model, and that art is its goal. It is concerned with the model, and the painter or the sculptor—it wishes to create something which shall be enduring."

"We cannot insist upon a pleasant atmosphere for a play, or that it have agreeable characters; only that the portrayal shall be of the truth. One cannot study life without seeing that it is a struggle between good and evil. Analyze your own life and you will see that, a definite choosing between these two forces."

"A play must be dramatic—that is, there must be a struggle between the different characters in it, and these characters must have different moral standards."

"Some critics insist upon having the good always victorious. We must not invariably take that view of plays; however, for some of the most unpleasant plays have been positively helpful. Musical comedies, vaudeville and motion picture theatres are offering very much resistance to the progress of real dramatic art. In many of our musical comedies—which are capable of giving much real entertainment—there appear cheap buffoonery instead of clean comedy, and trashy airs instead of real music. There is, too, a tendency towards seriousness in the singing and dancing."

"And too often the variety theatres exploit persons of unsavory reputation, both men and women. I will refer to a woman who has of late been brought forward in Boston, not as a singer or as a dancer, but because of a connection with something which we shudder at. And, I have been told on reliable authority, many young girls looked upon her as a sort of heroine and hero-worshiper, attended as many performances in which she appeared as possible.

"Just a word about the motion pictures. Too often these are shown in places where it is not only dark but where there are advantages offered for many things. Children, grasping a few cents, make their way into them when they should be attending school, or when they should be in the open air. The censorship of these pictures is many times lax, and then there is the question of retention injury being inflicted on the eyes of growing children."

"It is advisable for high minded people to take a more intelligent and active interest in the theatre. There are signs of degeneracy here and there. It is not impossible that the rivals of genuine art—buffoonery and gross obscenity may win out. The drama should be looked upon as a valuable ally of the church."

At Colonial Hall
An impressive sermon on "Beyond The Grave" was delivered at Colonial hall yesterday by Rev. A. E. Burgess, a New York city pastor. There was a large attendance and all listened with intense interest to the discourse. The speaker in his introduction said that there must be another place for attainment of life after death and that as it states in the scriptures, "every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that life is God," such an event must be elsewhere than on this earth for this widespread and universal bowing to the Divinity has yet to take place.

BILLERICA
The board of registrars of the town of Billerica held a meeting in the town hall Saturday night to recount the vote cast for representative at the recent state election. No changes were recorded, the result being: Riggs, 141; Slough, 124; Williams, 252. The recount was held on the petition of Rep. Charles H. Williams, who lost out by 25 votes in the district.

On Tuesday, Rev. David J. Murphy, pastor of St. Andrew's church will begin to take the census of the Catholic population in the town of Billerica. Rev. Mr. Murphy plans to get closer in touch with the people throughout the town.

The parishioners of St. Andrew's church will hold a meeting in Matthew hall tonight to make plans for a church reunion to be held in the near future. At St. Anne's mission yesterday, Rev. Samuel H. Jobe preached on the subject "The Life of the Church." Special music was furnished by the choir.

Rev. Charles Snates, a former pastor at the North Billerica Baptist church, officiated at the morning service of the Baptist church yesterday.

DR. AMEN DEAD

Was Principal of Phillips
Exeter Academy for
Many Years

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 10.—Harlan Page Amen, for many years principal of Phillips Exeter academy and an overseer of Harvard college, died here yesterday afternoon of apoplexy.

Out of respect for their dying "prexy," the students willingly relinquished from the expected jubilation of their football victory over the Phillips Andover eleven.

Collapsed at Phone
Saturday morning Mr. Amen was seized while in his study, and fell unconscious while in the act of telephoning for a physician. His family discovered him and medical aid was called.

Dr. Amen had a picturesque career and was one of the army of "poor boys who became famous" in the past decade. From abject poverty he rose to be one of the leading figures in the educational life of the country.

He leaves three daughters, Margaret R., Elizabeth W. and Rachel F., and a son, John Harlan Pearson, who is at present a member of the upper middle class at Phillips Exeter academy.

WEDS MAN OF 70 HELD IN $1000 CARS

Miss Costa, Aged 28, to Marry Dr. W. H. Grain-
ger on Wednesday

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The friends of Dr. William H. Grainger, of East Boston, who is about 70 years of age, and Miss Jessie Costa, 28 years old, a well known young woman in the Harbor View section of East Boston, will be surprised to learn that next Wednesday the couple will be married at the Star of the Sea church.

The ceremony will be performed at a nuptial mass by the Rev. William H. McDonough, the pastor, and only intimate friends and relatives will be present.

Dr. Grainger lives at 49 Bartlett road, Winthrop, and has offices in East Boston. He is one of the oldest physicians in East Boston. He is regarded as one of the leading physicians in Greater Boston. No doctor in East Boston has a larger practice among the oldest families of the island.

He has five sons, some of whom are married. Among his sons is former Senator Edward J. Grainger of Winthrop.

Dr. William Grainger has been the Costa family physician for years. Miss Costa is a charming brunette. She smilingly admitted to a reporter last night that she to become Dr. Grainger's bride on Wednesday morning. She lives with her mother at 107 Moore street.

She is the daughter of the late Capt. Manuel Costa. Capt. Costa was one of the veteran captains of the Provincetown fleet, and for nearly half a century sailed from that port and Boston. He engaged in fishing for the Boston market, where he had an immense business, which is now conducted by his sons.

Her father captained the schooner Jessie Costa, which was named for Miss Costa. This schooner was one of the fastest in the Boston fleet, and six years ago raced the Rose Dorothea for a cup which was given by Sir Thomas Lipton for a fisherman's race.

Captain Costa left much property, much of which was bequeathed to his daughter.

LANDS IN PATH OF WOMAN—
PICKED UP—LATER MARRIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Driving his automobile along Jericho turnpike, near Hempstead, last Sunday, George Van Hoe, 22 years old, of 459 Barbey street, Brooklyn, bumped into a ditch, landing at the feet of a young woman, who was walking at the side of the road.

"Don't be alarmed," Van Hoe reassured the young woman as she bent over him. "This is my usual method of getting out of my car."

Van Hoe jumped into the automobile, accompanied by the young woman, and drove to a nearby house, where she was spending the day with relatives. After a few cuts and bruises had been dressed, Van Hoe learned that the young woman's name was Miss Loretta Merkle of 601 Linwood street, Brooklyn. Now she is Mrs. George Van Hoe.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—If a polite request will not secure a man a night's lodging in a police station there are other methods of getting it. William Carnes adopted one of them last night. Carnes walked into the Roxbury Crossing police station and asked to be arrested.

"What for?" asked the lieutenant. "For reasons of my own," answered Carnes.

The lieutenant considered the explanation inadequate and refused to take the man into custody.

Carnes walked out, smashed a window in a nearby store and was promptly arrested and taken back to the station. This time he was allowed to remain.

NOVEMBER CROP REPORTS

WILL BE SUPPLIED TO NEWSPAPERS
THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY BY DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—As a result of requests from editors and editorial associations in many states, the U. S. department of agriculture has announced that the November crop reports for each state will be supplied to the newspapers in all states through the central weather station located in each of the states.

This is an extension of the experiment of telegraphing the state crop returns to the central weather stations in each of nine states, and having these telegrams duplicated at once and mailed to the newspapers and agricultural publications. Under this plan newspapers in 29 additional states will now receive full details of the state crops far more quickly than would be possible if these state crop details were put in the mails in Washington and had to travel by train long distances to the more remote states.

Under this plan the general summary of the crops for the United States will, as heretofore, be issued in Washington for telegraphic distribution. It has been found, however, that the conditions of crops within their particular states are of especial value to the farmers and producers, to whom the conditions in their own state are important in the marketing of their produce.

Under this plan the department sends one telegram to the central weather bureau in each state, and within a few minutes after the crop figures for the state are completed in Washington the weather bureau is enabled to mail copies of the figures from a central point within the state to all papers in that state.

Under the code system used the department is under the necessity of telegraphing only a few figures, as the figures of previous crops for comparison are supplied to each weather bureau station by mail. The cost of the telegram for each state does not exceed 15 cents.

The crop data thus circulated by mail to the newspapers will give: (a) a full list of the crops; (b) the average condition of each crop for ten-year periods in that particular state; (c) the condition of the state crops for Nov. 21st. In the adjoining column will be given the same data for the United States, so that the farmers who read these notices can compare the crops in their state as of Nov. 21st with the ten-year averages of their own state, and in the same way with the average condition throughout the United States on Nov. 21st and for ten years.

These state crop reports are not supplied to individuals, and are mailed only to editors of regular publications. The November state crop reports for the 22 states newly added to the list will be sent only to the daily papers, the county seat papers, and agricultural publications. Meanwhile, the department is preparing lists of small town weeklies, and in December the crop reports will be sent also to the smaller papers.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 10.—Three passengers were seriously injured and 11 others more or less shaken and bruised in a rear-end collision of electric cars on the Buttonwood road, at Cole's station, about 10 miles from this city, last evening.

A large car bound to this city crashed through the fog into the rear of a car which had stopped at the station. The accident was caused by the thick fog and slippery rails. Most of the injured were able to proceed to their homes after treatment and rest.

3 DEAD IN STORM

Big Tree Blown Across
Track Wrecks Train at
Utica, New York

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Three of the train crew were killed last evening when a locomotive pulling a work train on the Raquette Lake railroad ran into a tree which had been blown across the tracks by a severe storm that swept this part of the state late yesterday. The locomotive and tender broke loose from the train and plunged down an embankment.

The engineer, Benjamin Hall; his fireman, John Case, and the brakeman, A. G. Lashaway, were killed almost instantly. They all resided at Raquette Lake.

The storm did extensive damage to the Adirondacks.

SNOW IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—Crippling transportation facilities and prostrating wire communication over a wide area, an extraordinary snow, sleet and wind storm visited this section of the country yesterday and continued last night.

During the day 10 inches of snow fell, four inches more than ever fell during any November since 1898. The barometer registered 32.06, or about one inch below normal, and this incident of the storm is viewed as remarkable by the local officials of the United States weather bureau. Throughout the day a wind from the northwest blew 46 miles an hour, while the temperature dropped from 48 to 22 degrees in less than 15 hours.

SHORE LINE TIED UP

SOUTH LYME, Conn., Nov. 10.—During a heavy wind and rain storm yesterday afternoon, 20 telephone poles between here and Crescent Beach were blown down on the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, blocking traffic for nearly an hour.

KILLED WOMAN

LINE ROCK, Conn., Nov. 10.—Constables and deputy sheriffs are searching the woods in this vicinity for Andrew Burt, who is alleged to have shot and instantly killed Mrs. John Carroll during a quarrel in her home here last night.

According to the authorities Burt aimed a shotgun at Carroll, but his aim was poor and the charge of shot struck his wife in the head. Although closely pursued Burt made his escape.

FORM POLITICAL CLUB

LITHUANIANS OF LOWELL HELD
ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING YES-TERDAY—MAYOR SPOKE

The Lithuanians of this city yesterday met and organized a political club and 47 members were enrolled during the session which was held yesterday afternoon at 22 Middle street. Vincent Jakstys of Boston was present at the meeting and in an address told those present of the advantages of such a society. His Honor Mayor James E. O'Donnell was another speaker and he expressed pleasure at the action of the Lithuanian people. Much enthusiasm was manifested at the meeting. The officers were chosen as follows:

Anthony Uzman, president; J. Varasiki, vice president; Augusta Johnson, secretary and John Zebria, treasurer.

PORTLAND ELKS TO FIGHT

Seizure in Courts—
Many Interested

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 10.—Sheriff King F. Graham made a liquor raid at the home of the Elks on Free street Saturday evening and found in the lockers 1232 bottles of beer, 100 bottles of ale, 54 quarts of wine, 52 of whisky, one of rum, 52 of gin, two of brandy and five of vermouth. It has made a great sensation. It will be made a test case.

It is not claimed that liquor was sold at the Elks headquarters or that the Elks as an organization had any interest in the liquors found, but the question to be submitted to Judge John P. A. Merrill will be whether individual members may legally keep liquors for their own use in their lockers, each man having exclusive control of his locker with his own key.

It is not claimed that the steward of the place, Howard Ferris, was directly or indirectly interested in the contents of a single locker.

The case promises to assume state-wide importance, as there are many organizations in the state understood to have had for many years the same system of individual lockers and private stocks of liquor. If the decision of Judge Merrill is adverse to the Portland lodge it will mean the immediate closing of many other locker rooms.

The officers and members of the Portland lodge of Elks declare their belief that they were not violating in any way the letter or spirit of the prohibitory law in maintaining a locker room, with compartments for individual members. No secret was made of the fact and even the late Sheriff Scully did not attempt to make trouble for them or similar bodies.

It has become a serious matter to the thirsty or the sociably inclined to secure liquor, even for private use. It has not been safe for some time to place an order for liquor to be delivered here by express, as hundreds of such consignments have been seized, some returned and others confiscated, and ordered to be split.

Sheriff Graham has turned his civil business over to his chief civil deputy and is devoting his entire time to the suppression of the liquor traffic.

U. S. TROOPS WITHDRAWN

MANILA, Nov. 10.—Governor General Harrison will leave here today for Mindanao accompanied by Major General J. Franklin Bell, commander of the Philippine department. It is generally expected that the result of this journey will be the appointment of a civil governor. The American troops have been withdrawn from that territory already.

The Philippines commission is holding its sessions without the presence of any American member and many vacancies in the government service are to remain unfilled until the governor general's return.

Athletes and Athletics

Well, we've got some high school football team all right here in Lowell. The brand of football which the local high school played against Nashua Saturday is not to be despised by any championship aggregation. If the team continues to improve in the next fortnight as fast as it has in the past two weeks, the favorability and Lawrence games will not look so dubious.

Speaking of "come backs" there is a rumor around town that Jimmy Sullivan and Harry Nolan, the old time printers, have agreed to run each other within a short time. Although well past the athletic age, each thinks he is better preserved than the other and hence the race. The distance will be 100 yards and a host of their mutual friends will be on hand to witness the pair in their "come-back" stunt.

Brunelle certainly played a great game for the high school team Saturday. This boy is better with each succeeding game and having accidents should be placed upon the interschool team this season. He has a great future before him if he enters college after his high school career.

Eddie Cawley is bucking the line for Colby and doing it well from all accounts. Cawley is far above the average player of the smaller college teams. "Heinie" Bailey is also playing in the Colby backfield.

The Pony football team is desirous of playing any team in the city for a substantial side bet. They inform us also a basketball challenge is being broadcast with the same conditions attached. Tom Connors is the boy who manages the Ponies and further details can be gleaned by seeing him at 49 Salem street.

Frank Gatch is mighty able to crawl out of his street clothes and on his wrestling togs once more if these heavyweight grapplers from across the water keep up their chatter about being world's champions. It is rather a horrifying thought to entertain as to what these foreign strong men would do to little Frankie if he did not hide from them! There would be much less talk as to their respective wrestling ability if Gatch came out with an announcement that he was open to the world. They haven't forgotten about an individual named Jackensmidt and what occurred when he applied to the world's wrestling title.

Charlie Brickley lived up to his reputation Saturday in the Harvard-Princeton game and brought home the bacon. This is the chap whom divers persons will endeavor to convince you to quit in the Andover-Exeter game he took part in. Let them call him a quitter and amuse themselves, but a man who demonstrates through three years of college football that he is always ready when needed is good enough for us.

The Harvard line was a big disappointment to the coaches. The linemen seemed to cave in under the fierce Princeton attack and crumple up on several occasions. Harvard will have to show more power than she did Saturday if she expects to pile up a big score on Yale.

That will doubtless be some tussle over in New York tonight. Willie Ritchie and Leach Cross should draw a record house. Can Cross hit him? Is the question which arises. When this bout is discussed in a slugging box, the lightweight championship would change hands. But the champion is too clever for the Hebrew dentist. If the contest is even tonight a 20-round affair in California will probably be the result.

Dartmouth looms up big as a candidate for premier football honors. There is always talk of the Princeton team not trying as hard against the Green team as against Harvard, but no one who ever saw a Princeton-Dartmouth game would fall into this error. The Harvard-Yale and Princeton-Yale games will have a big bearing on the championship.

HARVARD WON

As reported in Saturday's 7 o'clock edition of The Sun, Harvard defeated Princeton 11 football by the score of 3 to 0. The game was played at Princeton, N. J., and attracted a large crowd, despite the inclement weather. The only score resulted from a field goal by Brickley.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL SCORES 28 TO 0 VICTORY OVER NASHUA—BRUNELLE THE STAR OF THE CONTEST

Lowell high easily proved itself master of Nashua High on the gridiron Saturday and romped away with the game by the score of 28 to 0. Lowell was in scoring position shortly after the kick-off and played hard football throughout. Although beaten by a large score Nashua displayed a brand of football which surprised the large crowd who attended the contest and threatened to become dangerous at several stages of the game.

The local team used the open game for the most part, shift plays and forward passes composing the greater part of their attack upon the visiting eleven. Nashua also resorted to the use of the forward pass and the Lowell secondary defense showed themselves lamentably weak on several occasions by failing to analyze Nashua's fake end run and pass to the short side.

Dan Brunelle was the individual star of the contest, although Lowell had reason to be proud of her entire team. Brunelle was in every play on the defense and his tackling was certain and deadly. On the offense he skirted ends, shot through the Nashua line and picked holes like an All-America selection. The all around performance of this player were the classiest that has been seen at Spaulding park this season.

Brunelle was being in the absence of Carl Jake Cullen.

Bowers also played a spectacular game in the Lowell backfield and the work of Bennett and Snyder added in the final score. Bowers side-stepped and twisted to good advantage on more than one occasion while the work of the other two members of the Lowell backfield was steady and consistent. A large number of Nashua rooters came down with the teams expecting to see their team pull out a victory. Nashua high has played the majority of the big high school teams and has earned a big reputation this season. In the outspoken opinion of many of the spectators Lowell high has a team which can compare favorably with those eleven who claim the state championship.

First Period
The visitors won the flip of the coin and those to receive with the wind at their backs. Cahill kicked to the 15-yard line. Wise carried the ball to the 26-yard line. Pratt fumbled and Nashua had 15 yards to make on second down. Nashua kicked to midfield.

Bennett made two yards through right tackle. Brunelle breezed through for three more. Cahill kicked to the 35-yard line. Desmond was on the job and nailed Pratt in his tracks. Brunelle recovered the ball for Lowell on the first play when Moran attempted a line buck and dropped the ball. Bowers took the pigskin.

two yards through left tackle. Brunelle smashed centre for five more. Snyder made three when he followed Corbett's broad back and Brunelle rolled off first down for the locals. Bennett failed to gain. Brunelle tore through the right side of the line on a skin tackle play and placed the ball behind the Nashua goal posts for the first score of the game. Bowers kicked the goal.

Cahill again kicked off and the Nashua captain, Littlefield, carried the ball from his ten yard line to his 20-yard mark. Snyder recovered the ball for Lowell on a blocked on-side kick and the march for the second touchdown began. Bennett ripped off five through center.

Brunelle nearly made first down on a tackle plunge. Lowell was set back five yards for starting ahead of the ball. Brunelle skirted Nashua's left end for the second touchdown, shaking off several tacklers before he landed the ball behind the goal posts. Bowers kicked an easy goal.

Cahill once more booted to the visitors. On straight line plays Nashua brought the ball down the field until Lowell's 42 yard line had been reached. Here the period ended.

Second Period
The visitors took the ball right long toward Lowell's goal line after the minute's intermission. Moran smashed through the local rush line for first down. Moran again tried the line and was stopped by a hard tackle by Mochrie. Another line smash failed and then a forward pass, Barker to D Pratt, advanced the ball 12 yards. Nashua looked decidedly dangerous at this point but a fumble by A. Pratt which McMahon recovered gave Lowell possession of the leather. Cahill promptly kicked to midfield and Roane made a swell tackle after Littlefield had advanced three yards. After two line plunges Nashua punted and Snyder was nailed on his own 20 yard line. Cahill kicked to the 35 yard line and Littlefield was downed in his tracks by the Lowell ends. Nashua tried a couple of line shifts which failed to bewilder the Lowell rush line. Brunelle then intercepted an attempted forward pass. Duval was ruled out of the game for an alleged slugging bee. The distance was halved to the Lowell goal line and it was Nashua's ball. Moran tried twice at the line and their attempted field goal. His try had neither height nor direction. The period ended with the ball on Lowell's 45 yard line in Lowell's possession.

Third Period
The third period completed the discomfiture of the visitors. Cahill kicked to the 15 yard line and the ball was run back five yards. After two attempts at the line Nashua kicked to the 45 yard line.

On the first play Brunelle tore through right tackle and shook off all the Nashua tacklers. The Lowell back, by fast running and clever dodging, managed to skirt Lowell's third touchdown. Bowers kicked his third goal.

Lowell again booted to Nashua, and the runner was thrown on his 20 yard chalk mark. Brunelle once more took the spotlight by intercepting a forward pass. Brunelle was forced out of bounds on the Nashua 10 yard line. Two line plunges by Brunelle and Bowers and a quarter back run by Snyder landed the fourth and last touchdown. Bowers made the score 28 to 0 by kicking his fourth goal.

The ball searced back and forth over the centre of the field. It looked like another touchdown for a few minutes toward the end of the period but Littlefield grabbed off an attempted forward pass. Play ended with the ball in the visitors' possession on their own 30 yard line.

Fourth Period
The fourth period was the least sensational of any. The Nashua players appeared to be tired and subs were filling the regulars' places for Lowell. Nashua threatened the Lowell goal more vigorously in this period than in any of the others, getting the ball down to the two yard line with two plays to put it over. Poor judgment and a stiffening in the Lowell line threw them back and the danger was over. From that time on it was all Lowell, and the Nashua eleven was on the defensive. The contest ended with the ball in Nashua's possession on their own 45 yard line. The line-up and summary:

CAPTAIN WELCH OF CARLISLE IS GREAT ALL AROUND GRIDIRON STAR

Capt. WELCH OF CARLISLE

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 10.—Captain Welch of the Carlisle Indian football eleven is a promising candidate for a position on the All American team this year. Coach Glen Warner has developed him into one of the best all around players in the country. Welch seems able to play almost any position, but of course excels in the back field.

BUNTINGS WIN

The Buntings won their game from the South Lawrence soccer team Saturday by the score of 3 to 2 on the grounds of the local club. The score is indicative of the closeness of the game but hardly tells the story of one of the hardest fought soccer matches ever played off at the South Lowell grounds.

From the first sound of the referee's whistle it was one grand battle and the spectators were kept on their toes during the entire contest. The visitors scored first shortly after play was called. The Bunting team took the field with only ten men and the first goal was caged before the full Bunting strength had taken the field. Clegg came back within a very few minutes and slugged the ball between the Lawrence goal posts for the first Bunting score. After several minutes of hard scrimmaging in mid-field the ball bounded away toward the visitors' goal again and the Buntings were placed in the lead when Clegg made a great goal from a difficult angle.

The Lawrence team tied up the score before the first half was called. Play by this time had become a trifle "forceful" to say the least. The referee issued a warning to some of the players several times before the whistle blew for the end of the period. The Lowell team got the jump on their opponents at the start of the second half. The ball was rapidly worked down the field and Mitchell scored for the Buntings. Just about this time the rough-house tactics of two players was summarily stopped by the action of the referee who put them off the field. Not satisfied with this the visiting team kept right on in their strenuous playing and as a result a third member of the South Lawrence team was expelled from the game. The contest ended without South Lawrence becoming dangerous although they had several chances to score long shots. These lineup and summary:

GREAT MEETING OF CITIZENS HELD

Protests Against Russian Persecution of Jews—Addresses by Mayor Jas. E. O'Donnell, Cong. Rogers and Others

Odd Fellows Temple in Middlesex street was filled to the doors yesterday afternoon with men, women and children representing several crowds and nationalities, who gathered to join in the nation-wide movement against the Russian government's stand relative to the Jewish religion and race, in an attempt to establish "ritual murder" as a part of the Jewish faith. Several prominent men of this city were in attendance and among those who addressed the gathering were Congressman John Jacob Rogers, Mayor Jas. E. O'Donnell, Rabbi Elias Wolfson, Rev. C. R. Skinner, Rev. Raymond Clapp, Rev. F. A. Dunnels, Frank Goldman, Jesse B. Crook and Joseph Galvin.

The addresses were most interesting and were listened to with great interest. At the close of the meeting it was voted to authorize the chairman of the meeting, Bennett Silverblatt, to draw up resolutions of protest, the same to be circulated throughout Lowell for signatures.

The meeting was called to order by Bennett Silverblatt, who outlined its purpose saying it was to formally protest against the adoption of "ritual murder" by Russia and throughout the world.

He introduced as the first speaker, Rabbi Elias Wolfson, who addressed the gathering in his native tongue, speaking on the Jewish fundamentals with respect to cooperation, affection and brotherhood, and to Jewish obligations even as they apply to the treatment of gentiles, and pointed out the absurdity of a "sacred murder" in view of these tenets.

Mayor James E. O'Donnell was the next speaker and he was well received by the assembly. His remarks were as follows:

"In a general way only an American with the case now pending, which has brought the sympathy of all Christian nations to the Jewish race. Two years ago, a young man of your nationality was arrested in Russia on the charge of murdering a boy, such a circumstance would ordinarily excite little comment beyond the locality concerned, but the Russian government set up as the motive for the murder the ridiculous claim that the Jewish religion required the shedding of Christian blood as a sacrifice, and this attack upon the foundations of the Jewish faith gave to the case a world-wide importance."

"It seems almost unbelievable that intelligent men should bring such a charge, and it can be explained only by the assumption that Russia is determined to intensify the hatred of her subjects towards the Jews, and as this same time, attempt to discredit all line the Jewish faith. Every thinking man will not believe this charge of ritual murder to be true."

"The disposition of the Russian government is difficult to understand in the character of its attitude towards the Jewish people. Here is a country known to be one of the wealthiest in the world, a country of abundant natural resources, with room to spare for all her people and millions more, yet the government apparently seeks to enslave the degradation of a nation numbering millions within its boundaries."

"The Jews have contributed much to the development of Russia. Running may be said to have founded the Russian school of music, Autochoksky has made Russian sculpture to rank high. Levitan, a Jewish landscape painter, has taught the Russian people how to admire the landscapes of their own country. Professor Elie Metchnikoff, head of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, the greatest living biologist, who called himself from Russia, ascribes his love for science to the influence of his Jewish mother. He has declared that Russia has lost, through the persecution of the Jews, some of the greatest scientists."

"In America, experience has demonstrated the fact that the Jewish race readily assimilates, and is obedient to the laws and it has become one of the important influences in the development of this country. America welcomes all such people. Here, we have no foreigners. None of us belonged in this country originally, so that no nationality can lay special claim to possession of the country. All nationalities who accommodate themselves to the laws of America are welcome, and they have before them what apparently is lacking in Russia—equal opportunity."

"As mayor of Lowell and as an individual, I desire to join in your protest against this great injustice that Russia is attempting to work upon you. I trust that this and similar meetings will be productive of much good."

Congressman Rogers was given a cordial greeting when he arose, and his remarks were very instructive and interesting. He said in part:

"It is extremely difficult for most of us at least to gain an adequate idea of the elementary facts underlying the extraordinary murder trial of the Jew Mendel Beilis now going on at Kiev. From various newspapers and magazines, especially the Outlook of November 1, I have been able to gather the following facts which I will venture to read to you."

continued without ceasing during the entire two years and a half which have elapsed since that time, was the result. In August, 1911, a Jew of Kiev, Mendel Beilis, formerly a soldier and then a worker in a neighboring brickyard, was arrested and thrown into prison. It is rather difficult to learn upon just what grounds the arrest was made for, as your doubtless all have observed, the prisoner himself has apparently been the least important feature of the trial which has now been in progress for some weeks. The entire attempt of the Russian government has apparently been to make out a case of "ritual murder" and the particular defendant was not a tiny atom in the great and complicated machinery, reaching even up to the throne itself, which has been at work all of this time.

"I do not desire to discuss the particular trial which has been going on, for doubtless you know more of its events and of its progress than I could well tell you. What I do desire to refer to, however, is the antiquity of this charge of 'ritual murder'." In the decade following 1570 this charge was freely made in Russia to incite the peasantry against the Jews, but as far as I can learn it has not been alleged in Russia to any extent from that time until now, although in perhaps 20 or 30 instances it has, in the last 20 or 30 years, and in various portions of the world, been sought to serve as the explanation of mysterious murders."

"The first actual charge of 'ritual murder' in view of these tenets."

Mayor James E. O'Donnell was the next speaker and he was well received by the assembly. His remarks were as follows:

"In a general way only an American with the case now pending, which has brought the sympathy of all Christian nations to the Jewish race. Two years ago, a young man of your nationality was arrested in Russia on the charge of murdering a boy, such a circumstance would ordinarily excite little comment beyond the locality concerned, but the Russian government set up as the motive for the murder the ridiculous claim that the Jewish religion required the shedding of Christian blood as a sacrifice, and this attack upon the foundations of the Jewish faith gave to the case a world-wide importance."

"It seems almost unbelievable that intelligent men should bring such a charge, and it can be explained only by the assumption that Russia is determined to intensify the hatred of her subjects towards the Jews, and as this same time, attempt to discredit all line the Jewish faith. Every thinking man will not believe this charge of ritual murder to be true."

"The disposition of the Russian government is difficult to understand in the character of its attitude towards the Jewish people. Here is a country known to be one of the wealthiest in the world, a country of abundant natural resources, with room to spare for all her people and millions more, yet the government apparently seeks to enslave the degradation of a nation numbering millions within its boundaries."

"The Jews have contributed much to the development of Russia. Running may be said to have founded the Russian school of music, Autochoksky has made Russian sculpture to rank high. Levitan, a Jewish landscape painter, has taught the Russian people how to admire the landscapes of their own country. Professor Elie Metchnikoff, head of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, the greatest living biologist, who called himself from Russia, ascribes his love for science to the influence of his Jewish mother. He has declared that Russia has lost, through the persecution of the Jews, some of the greatest scientists."

"In America, experience has demonstrated the fact that the Jewish race readily assimilates, and is obedient to the laws and it has become one of the important influences in the development of this country. America welcomes all such people. Here, we have no foreigners. None of us belonged in this country originally, so that no nationality can lay special claim to possession of the country. time in store. The affair is complimentary to the members of the Holy Angels sodality.

St. Margaret's Church

The Holy Name society of St. Margaret's church held a lengthy business meeting last evening at which matters of importance were discussed. Reports of officers showed that the society has enjoyed rapid growth, and the membership at the present time is quite large. The pastor, Rev. Charles Galligan, in a brief address, complimented the members on the spirit which they have manifested in the work of the society, and gave them valuable suggestions for the future.

Proclamation plans for a grand parish reunion have been made, and according to the present plan, the event will take place on or about the 14th day of January, 1914. At a general parish meeting which will be called at an early date, the officers will be elected and other arrangements made. A number of whists will be held as a means of financing the big event.

Immaculate Conception Church

The junior branch of the Children of Mary sodality of the church of the Immaculate Conception has planned a three days' sale to take place in the Y. M. C. H. hall for the benefit of the church. Articles of every description will be sold.

The annual coal collection will be taken next Sunday.

The ninth anniversary of the O. M. I. Cadets will be celebrated on November 20 with a banquet, speaking and entertainment. This is one of the biggest events of the year for the cadets and they are looking forward to it and making the plans with a great deal of pleasant anticipation. There will be a good list of speakers.

During the past few weeks all of the uniforms of the cadets must be handed in for inspection by the authorities.

St. Columba's Church

The Tabernacle society of St. Columba's church has arranged to hold a social, dance and entertainment in Associate hall on Wednesday evening next. The entertainment is the unique feature and will consist of a sketch entitled "The District School of Cranberry Corners." This playlet is full of original wit and will furnish one hearty laugh from start to finish.

Minor's orchestra will render music for the concert and also for general dancing which will follow. The pleasing character of the entertainments held under the auspices of the organization of St. Columba's church are well known and appreciated and there can be no doubt that the attendance will be as large or even larger than on former occasions.

St. Peter's Parish

The Holy Name society of St. Peter's parish held its regular monthly meeting last evening in St. Paul's chapel, starting at half past six o'clock and in spite of the rain, there was a very large attendance of the members. Rev. Father Burns presided and gave an interesting talk on the work of the society and the benefits to be derived from a close adherence to its principles. He spoke in particular of the quarterly communion, praising the practice and explaining the great spiritual good derived. In this connection he took occasion to speak a word of praise of the large attendance of the members at this event in the past and urged an increase in the future. St. Peter's Holy Name society has a wide reputation both for its size and for the spirit which it manifests on such occasions.

Lawyer Frank Goldman spoke of the case from the viewpoint of a lawyer and his remarks were well received. The last speaker was Lawyer James D. Crook, who spoke at length on the history of the Jewish nation, and his remarks were listened to with great interest.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NOTES

ACTIVITIES OF THE CHURCH SOCIETIES—HOLY NAME SOCIETIES MEET

At a meeting of the Holy Name society of St. Michael's parish in the basement of the church, a new organ, recently installed in the lower church was used for the first time. This is a very valuable instrument and is the second new organ to be built in this church in a short period. This was also conducted by the Cole company of Boston. Last evening Miss Marie O'Donnell was the organist.

Gene McCarthy the soloist. The society and congregation sang appropriate hymns. Rev. Father Shaw, the pastor, delivered a short address. There was a very large attendance.

The Holy Name society is planning a smoke talk and general social gathering for members to take place on Thursday. A pleasing program of varied numbers will be rendered and a general good time enjoyed.

Sacred Heart Church

At the high mass at the Sacred Heart church yesterday, the celebrant of which was Rev. Father McDermott, O. M. I., Rev. Father Wand, O. M. I., delivered a thoughtful and impressive discourse on "The Mercy of God."

Masses for the November intentions will be celebrated at this church every morning throughout this week at eight o'clock.

On Tuesday evening, the Holy Angels sodality of the young ladies of the parish will enjoy a social in the school hall. This affair has been in the process of preparation for some time and should furnish an evening of great enjoyment to the members of the organization. As these socials have been held at various times before, the young people are fully aware of the good time in store. The affair is complimentary to the members of the Holy Angels sodality.

THE TIME LIMIT

For Withdrawal From Preliminary Election is Given

Relative to the withdrawal by candidates from preliminary or primary elections, the city clerk asked the city solicitor for an opinion setting forth the time allowed the candidate after the hour for filing nomination papers had expired and the solicitor opines as follows:

November 8, 1913.
Stephen Flynn, Esq., City Clerk of the City of Lowell.
Dear Sir:

In reply to your request for the opinion of the city solicitor relative to the time when a person may withdraw his name from nomination by request in writing, I submit to you the following:

Chapter 646 of the acts of 1911, the amended city charter of the city of Lowell, does not in anywise specifically provide for withdrawal of candidates' names from nomination, yet, by section 11 of chapter 646 of the acts of 1911, it is specifically stated how and when statements of candidates for nomination shall be filed; and if you act with expedition under the provisions of law laid down therein, and if you follow the language as expressed in the last paragraph of section 11, there would be no opportunity for withdrawal; and by implication, therefore, I would say that if you do so act, as it is provided in section 11, if you do so, then, in that case, it is my opinion that withdrawals are precluded according to said section 11.

It is my opinion, then, in making a comparative analysis of the various provisions of law concerning the subject matter, that by implication, a withdrawal is precluded—provided, however, you immediately provide for such preliminary election, as provided in said section 11 of chapter 646, acts of 1911.

I would advise, therefore, that at any time between the time succeeding 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the last day of filing statements and petitions for any office, as provided in said chapter 646 of the acts of 1911, and the time when you shall prepare and cause to be provided the ballots to be used at such preliminary election, if it would be your duty to accept a withdrawal, in no case should you accept a withdrawal after you have prepared and caused to be provided the ballots to be used at the preliminary election, following out, therefore, the injunction laid down in said section 11, chapter 646, acts of 1911, and in the event of a person who has filed a statement and petition for nomination desiring to withdraw, name from nomination, I would require him to set forth in writing his withdrawal, and the same to be signed and sworn to by him.

The above reference concerns only preliminary elections, and has no bearing whatever upon the question of withdrawals of nominations at a city election other than preliminary elections, and at such city elections you are to follow the provisions of law with regard to withdrawals as laid down in section 206, chapter 535 of the acts of 1913.

Very respectfully yours,
J. Joseph Hennessy,
City Solicitor.

OLD TOWN, Me., Nov. 10.—Clad in the regalia of eagle feathers and beaded buckskins of other times, Indian chiefs danced yesterday at the wedding of Andrew Sockalexis, the Penobscot Indian, daughter of Schabaz Shaw, one of the leading tribesmen. Haunches of venison bear steaks and choice cuts of other game made up the feast. The Sockalexis family has long been prominent for its athletes. GUY JOHNSON TO GO TO MEMPHIS, TENN.

Clokey Announces—Talk of Club Transfer to Haverhill

HAVERHILL, Nov. 10.—Daniel F. Clokey, president of the Fall River club of the New England league, yesterday announced that Guy Johnson, one of the pitchers of his team, has been sold to the Memphis club of the Southern league for $500.

Johnson came to the Haverhill club two years ago from the Washington Americans and went to Fall River last season when the Haverhill nine was transferred there.

Clokey left yesterday for Columbus, O., to attend the annual convention of the Association of Minor League leagues. It has been rumored for some time that the Fall River club will next season return to Haverhill and negotiations have been pending for the opening of new baseball grounds in this city.

President Clokey admitted that a deal was on, but he declined to talk as to Haverhill being represented in the league next season until after his return from Columbus.

SHOT IN BACK

Man Killed by Farmer Despite Latter's Efforts to Save Him

WEST HAVEN, Vt., Nov. 10.—Charles Gordon, fisherman and hunter, was shot fatally yesterday during a dispute with William Koch over some traps which Gordon had set on Koch's farm in this town. Gordon died on his way to the hospital after Koch had summoned three physicians by special train from Whitehall, N. Y., to attend him. Koch was arrested.

Gordon, who was 38 years old, lived alone in a house on the New York shore of Lake Champlain. When he moved across to the Vermont side yesterday to examine some of his traps on Koch's farm, the owner of the farm, who was formerly a New York game warden, discovered him and ordered him off the premises. In the quarrel which followed, Gordon received a 38 calibre revolver bullet in the back.

As soon as Koch saw that Gordon was seriously wounded, he telephoned to Whitehall for physicians and had a special train provided for them. Meanwhile, Gordon, at his own request, had been conveyed in a rowboat to his houseboat, which was nearly a mile away across the lake. When the three doctors from Whitehall arrived, they found the condition of the wounded man desperate. At Koch's request that everything possible be done to get Gordon to a hospital, a yacht was chartered to tow the houseboat to Whitehall, but Gordon died before the boat was reached.

Koch was removed to the house of correction at Rutland, last night, after State Attorney B. L. Stafford and deputy sheriff had examined him. He is a prosperous farmer, 35 years old, and has a wife and two children. He formerly lived in Whitehall.

Gordon was not married. His mother and four brothers survive him. Koch admitted the shooting, but said that it was accidental. He had been remonstrated with Gordon against setting traps in his game preserve, he said, when Gordon raised his arm as if to attack him, and at that instant the revolver which Koch was holding was discharged. Koch said he was unable to understand how the bullet entered Gordon's back.

Koch's game preserve consists of about 2000 acres of land which he has stocked with wild birds and animals of various kinds in the last few years. He has been much annoyed of late by poachers.

A special session of the grand jury will be called at once to investigate the shooting.

SPECIAL EXHIBITION

A fine exhibition of the Copley Prints is now being held at the store of Messrs. G. C. Prince & Son, Merrimack street, in charge of William E. MacLane, a special representative of Curtis & Cameron, the Boston publishers.

The large collection of reproductions of a baby's face, "The Queen of the Holy Grail" are remarkably fine. Other artists represented in this display are Sargent, Inness, Saint Gaudens, Alexander, and so on.

in the United States and the deadly germs claim more victims in cities than in rural districts, due no doubt to the increased number of indoor workers in confining quarters and their lack of sunshine.

Tubercular germs always attack when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, overstrain, confining duties or any drain which has reduced the resistive forces of the body. But nature always provides a corrector and the best physicians emphasize that during changing climate our blood should be kept rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood—it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and upbuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.
